HUGE GARNER AID PLAN IS APPROVED BY HOUSE, 216-182

10 Democrats Bolt Party Caucus, but G. O. P. Insurgents and Drastic Procedure Force Passage.

SENATE WHIPS HOOVER'S PLAN INTO SHAPE FOR CONSIDERATION

Mills Backs President's Proposal as Committee Witness; Mayors of 31 Important Cities Urge Big Bond Issue.

(Associated Press.)

Quickly overriding a Republican attempt to obtain sanction of President Hoover's relief program, the Democratic House yesterday approved the $2,300,000,000 Garner plan for helping the unemployed.

Bound by the caucus rule and aided by insurgent Republicans, the Democrats sent the Speaker's bill intact to the Senate by a vote of 216 to 182.

Action came after a motion by Representative Hawley (Republican), Oregon, to send the bill back to committee with instructions to adopt the administration proposals was defeated 218 to 183.

Ten Democrats Bolt Party.

Ten Democrats bolted their party on the final vote while 21 Republicans and the lone Farmer-Laborite—Kvale, of Minnesota—cast their votes for the Garner program. An omnibus amendment proposed by Majority Leader Rainey to perfect the measure and permit the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to lend funds to corporate bodies for the erection of dwellings was approved.

As the measure went to the Senate it provided $100,000,000 to be distributed by President Hoover for direct relief; an increase to $3,000,000,000 in the Reconstruction Corporation's capital, and a $1,200,000,000 public building and waterway construction program to provide employment.

Democrats voting against passage were: Cannon, Lozier, and Romjue, of Missouri; Ayers, of Kansas; Jones, of Texas; Ludlow, of Indiana; Morehead and Shallberger, of Nebraska; Parsons, of Illinois; Polk, of Ohio.

Republicans voting for: Adkins, of Illinois; Amlie, Boileau, Nelson, Schneider and Withrow, of Wisconsin; Butler, of Oregon; Christgau, Massachusetts; Nolan and Pittenger, of Minnesota; Crail, Swing and Welch, of California; Garber, of Oklahoma; Horr, of Washington; James, of Michigan; Kelly, of Pennsylvania; LaGuardia, of New York; Sinclair, of North Dakota; Taylor, of Tennessee.

Representative Kvale, of Minnesota, lone Farmer-Labor member, voted for passage. Representative Reid (Republican), Illinois, was paired for the bill with Representative Chase (Republican), Pennsylvania, against.

Chairman McNary late yesterday called the Senate agriculture committee for a special session today to take up his resolution to give 50,000,000 bushels more of Farm Board wheat for relief use.

To Seek Swift Action.

He will seek swift action, having been notified by Chairman John Barton Payne, of the Red Cross, that additional wheat will be needed for relief use.

Payne estimated there were 15,000,000 bushels of wheat on hand uncommitted which would last through the summer, probably to November 1.

This supply would be exhausted before Congress could reconvene in December, and as the resolution McNary is sponsoring also requires House approval he will attempt to expedite action to permit passage prior to adjournment.

25 to 30 Injured In Train Crash

Atlantic City-to-New York Express Hits Freight Near Deans, N. J.

Deans, N. J., June 7 (A.P.).—Between 25 and 30 persons were injured when an Atlantic City-to-New York express train ploughed into a derailed freight just west of here tonight. The locomotive and first three cars of the six-car express plunged over an 8-foot embankment. The last three cars, which were parlor cars, left the rails, but did not go over the bank.

Hurry calls brought ambulances and physicians from New Brunswick, 5 miles east of here. The engineer of the express train was thrown from his cab into a deep brook at the bottom of the embankment and was almost drowned before rescuers reached him. He suffered fractures of both legs. The fireman also was seriously hurt.

Four physicians and four nurses, returning to New York from a convention in Atlantic City, were aboard the train. They administered emergency treatment to fellow passengers.

Traffic on the four-track trunk line of the Pennsylvania railroad was tied up by the wreck. New York-Philadelphia trains were rerouted. Preliminary investigation indicated the freight had been derailed by the opening of a chute in a coal gondola.

MRS. OWEN TRAILING WET IN FLORIDA VOTE

Mark Wilcox Piles Up Early Lead; Roosevelt Ahead in Preference Ballot.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 7 (A.P.).—Mark Wilcox, West Palm Beach attorney who campaigned on a platform advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment, tonight was pulling away from Representative Ruth Bryan Owen in the Fourth Florida District congressional race, as returns from today's Democratic primary trickled in.

Mrs. Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, included a referendum plank in her platform. With 25 of the 419 district precincts reported, she was training Wilcox by about 400 votes. The count was Wilcox, 1,190; Mrs. Owen, 771.

The presidential preference vote from 43 of the State's 1,283 precincts showed Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York rapidly increasing his lead over two opponents, Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma and L. J. Chassée, of Milwaukee, Wis. The vote was Roosevelt, 6,467; Murray, 852; Chassee, 81.

Estate Left by Swift Valued at $5,000,000

Chicago, June 7 (A.P.).—Edward F. Swift, member of the meat packing family who plunged to his death ten days ago from his Gold Coast apartment, left an estate valued at $5,000,000.

The will, filed for probate today, left one-third of the estate to the widow, Mrs. Hortense Swift; one-third in trust for the three children, Anna May Swift, Henry T. Philip and Edward F., jr., and a third to charity and minor legatees.

Brookhart's Defeat Makes Issue of Giving Jobs to Kin

Nepotism Used in Iowa's Republican Primary as Battle Cry Against Senator; Other Members of Congress to Face Similar Charges.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The defeat of Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart in Iowa's Republican primary indicates that nepotism—the placing of relatives on the Federal pay roll—has taken its place as a major issue in this year's congressional elections.

Nepotism in itself may not have caused Mr. Brookhart's defeat, but it certainly was an important contributory factor, according to Iowans here.

While Mr. Brookhart was railing against Wall street and demanding a square deal for the farmers, his foes were hammering away at something much more concrete, something much easier for the man in the field to grasp.

They were pointing to the charge that Mr. Brookhart, in addition to drawing his salary of $10,000 a year as senator, had three members of his family on the Senate pay roll—his son, Smith W. Brookhart, jr., and two of his daughters.

For the other senators and for the representatives who come up for re-election this year, and who must answer to the charge of nepotism, the political eclipse of Mr. Brookhart is an awesome spectacle.

Until hard times set in, placing of relatives of the Capitol pay roll was an accepted practice. Now, however, with 8,000,000 persons out of work, it is regarded in many communities as an unpardonable example of greed, and the 100 or more members who are open to the charge, realize that they are going to have a lot of explaining to do.

Senator Brookhart is the first member of the Upper House to go down to defeat in the primaries this year. Senator Cameron Morrison, who has run a poor second in the Demo-

AL SMITH'S CHIEFS WILL BACK SHOUSE

Board of Strategy Assumes Leadership of Stop-Roosevelt Drive.

(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

New York, June 7.—Alfred E. Smith's board of strategy met in the cloud-splitting Empire State Building today and assumed leadership in the "Stop Roosevelt" movement.

The Smith managers will support Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, for permanent chairman of the Chicago convention. They will try to force Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is supporting Senator Thomas J. Walsh for the chairmanship, into a definite position on prohibition.

Incidentally, they decided upon Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, as sponsor for Smith in the national convention. Ely will nominate the former New York Governor, once his party's standard-bearer, for the Presidency.

48 Million Trimmed From Economy Bill

Senate Refuses to Back Down on 10 Per Cent Pay Cut; Provision for Slash in Veterans' Funds Eliminated; Final Action Due Today.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The Senate yesterday backed $48,714,000 in savings from its budget-balancing economy bill, but refused to back down on action levying $117,050,000 in 10 per cent Federal pay cuts. A motion to substitute compulsory Federal furloughs was rejected, 41 to 36.

The savings cut, the first of any consequence in the bill, was made by striking an entire title curtailing veterans' compensation and hospitalization allowances. A single clause, authorizing a joint congressional committee to investigate veterans' awards and report back, was allowed to remain.

Final action on the bill will be taken today. Two last-minute efforts to modify pay cut provisions will be made by Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr. (Republican), Wisconsin, who will demand reconsideration of the close furlough vote, and Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia, who will ask another count on the committee's 10 per cent salary slash.

The vote on the veterans' title left $186,888,606 in economies in the bill, originally containing $235,608,000. Possibility remains that $34,000,000 more may be lost if enough votes are mustered overnight to reinsert the furlough plan. With White House influence brought to bear, this is not a remote possibility.

Considering wholesale emasculation of the House economy bill, which was cut from approximately $200,000,000 in savings to $42,000,000, Senate economy committee members felt moderately satisfied with their work. Appropriations Chairman Wesley L. Jones said the measure as it now stands will meet budget balancing demands.

While veterans were spared any cuts, little mercy was shown the Federal worker, who was asked to bear the major burden of the retrenchment. Ironically, Senator Sam G. Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, in moving to exclude the veterans, used the same arguments friends of the U.S. Gunboat Fires On Chinese Troops

Inflicts Heavy Casualties on Soldiers Attacking 2 British Vessels.

Shanghai, June 7 (A.P.).—A dispatch telling of heavy casualties inflicted by the U. S. gunboat Oahu on Chinese soldiers who were attacking two British steamers in the upper Yangtze River, was published today by the Exchange Telegraph Agency.

The gunfire, the dispatch said, was for the purpose of protecting the steamers Wanliu and Kiawo. The Wanliu, which had $110,000 in cash aboard, ran aground 40 miles below the town of Chungking and when the Kiawo came alongside to take off the money, cargo and passengers, a considerable force of Chinese soldiers intervened.

The Exchange Telegraph Agency said the soldiers were men of the regular army. Their demands for the money were refused and gunfire resulted. Thereupon the master of the Kiawo signaled for assistance.

New York Store Thieves Get $50,000 in Jewelry

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Three robbers invaded the third floor offices of the Bristol Seamless Ring Co. in downtown Manhattan late today, police were told, and escaped with jewelry valued at between $50,000 and $100,000. The members of the office staff were bound and gagged.

The loot consisted almost entirely of diamond rings. Most of it was taken from a large safe, the door of which had not yet been closed for the day.

Mississippi Sends 20 Roosevelt Men

State Convention Refuses to Go on Record on Prohibition.

Jackson, Miss., June 7 (A.P.).—Mississippi's delegation to the Democratic national convention will go uninstructed but favoring the presidential nomination of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. The State convention held here today selected the delegates, but took no action to instruct them.

Four of the twenty comprising the delegation were chosen from the State-at-large and all expressed favor of the Roosevelt candidacy. They are Senators Pat Harrison and Hubert D. Stephens, Gov. Sennett Conner and Attorney General Greek L. Rice.

The convention heeded an appeal by Senator Stephens, the keynote speaker, and defeated a resolution urging a prohibition plank in the national platform.

Kentucky Deputy Sheriff Slain in Attack on Mine

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 7 (A.P.).—Deputy Sheriff Wallace Myers was shot to death late today when coal miners for whom he was guard were fired upon with machine guns and rifles from a wooded hill overlooking Empire Mine No. 6, about 15 miles from here. The barrage of bullets scattered the miners as they emerged from a pit.

A posse of officers and citizens was formed immediately at Mannington, a neighboring coal mining community, and, aided by bloodhounds, started in search of the assailants.

HERRIOT IS UPHELD ON FOREIGN POLICY

Given Mandate for Initiative at Lausanne and Geneva by Confidence Vote.

Paris, June 7 (A.P.).—Premier Edouard Herriot was given a clear-cut mandate to represent French interests at the Lausanne reparations parley and Geneva Disarmament Conference by a smashing vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies tonight.

Declaring his new administration was founded on a basis of close international collaboration in the fields of both economics and politics, the premier made a fervent appeal for support. It was granted by a vote of 390 to 152.

He also had pledged his government to immediate economies in the war budget.

The vote in support of his newly formed cabinet came from the left and well over toward the center right, including several members of the former government, despite oppo-

Betrothal May Follow Visit of Belgian Rulers

London (Wednesday), June 8 (A.P.).—King Albert and Queen Elisabeth of the Belgians will come to London today, said a Brussels dispatch to the Daily Mail.

It was rumored, the dispatch said, that the visit might result in the betrothal of their second son, Prince Charles, the Count of Flanders, to the daughter of an English duke, whom the count frequently visits.

Dispatches as Bonus Army Mobilizes on Wide Front

Los Angeles, June 7 (A.P.).—Thirteen hundred unemployed World War veterans, leaders announced tonight, have enlisted in a "bonus expedition" to start this week toward Washington.

With plans made uncertain by the problem of transportation, Commander Royal W. Robertson said he hoped to head the procession out of Los Angeles Thursday.

Wilmington, Del., June 7 (A.P.).—A "big parade" of bonus marchers streamed through this city today en route to Washington.

One party, in three detachments, estimated by authorities to number 500, came from the Lehigh Valley of Pennsylvania. They rode in trucks and automobiles, each vehicle with its own supply of food, and disembarked here briefly to obtain hot coffee.

Nashville, Tenn., June 7 (A.P.).—Between 400 and 500 "bonus marchers" from Texas and Oklahoma will leave here in Army trucks tomorrow for Bristol, on the Tennessee-Virginia line.

The marchers, many with several days' growth of beard, many wearing nondescript "uniforms" of overalls or old Army clothes, and all tired after riding in trucks from Memphis, arrived early today. They expect to reach Washington Friday.

Texarkana, Ark., June 7 (A.P.).—Some 500 Texas "bonus marchers" swept aside a handful of railway guards here today and swarmed aboard a northbound freight train on their way to Washington, D. C.

None was injured in the brief struggle with the railroad officers who made a futile gesture of resistance.

Washington, Pa., June 7 (A.P.).—Charged with stealing all the funds of 59 disabled war veterans from Dayton, five men are held by police today. The men, according to L. B. Smith, commander of the Dayton aggregation en route to Washington, D. C., to join in demands for a bonus, attacked him early today, beat him, took more than $100 belonging to the group and fled in one of the veterans' automobiles.

An hour later the men were arrest-

CROWDS APPLAUD AS 8,000 PASS BY IN BIG PROCESSION

Line, Led by Alman, Forms in Constitution Avenue and Proceeds Down Pennsylvania in Calmness.

POLICEMEN ON MOTORCYCLES PATROL AS GROUPS PROCEED

Patrolmen Stationed at Strategic Points to Avert Trouble, But Massed Columns March Without Any Overt Incident.

The strangest military parade the Capital has ever witnessed—8,000 veterans swinging down Pennsylvania avenue to impress Congress with their demand for full payment of the bonus—was reviewed last night by 100,000 friendly citizens.

From the time that the bedraggled forces stepped from the White Lot until they reached the point of dispersal beyond the Capitol there was not a semblance of disorder, and the plot of Communist leaders to cause bloodshed by rioting was successfully aborted by the attitude of the veterans and the mustering of heavy police forces.

Are Cheered by Spectators.

Through lines of curious spectators, who cheered sporadically, the heroes of 1917-18 marched in ragged, soiled shirts and rumpled olive drab uniforms which many of them last wore in the victory parades in their home towns when they returned triumphant after the armistice.

When the last sounds of the tramping feet had died into the distance Commander in Chief George Alman, Portland, Oreg., lumberjack, said: "This is the forerunner of a fixed determination on the part of the American people to elect men to Congress who will stand solidly by their platforms.

"There is no need for a change of the Constitution. The Constitution as it is written is the finest document for the welfare of the human race. It is the men in Congress who will permit people to go hungry who need to be replaced.

"Our aim for a peaceful demonstration has been achieved," he said.

"The parade shows the grim determination of the veterans to stay here until we get the bonus," said Walter W. Waters, former commander in chief of the bonus army, who resigned his post because of illness.

Both Commander in Chief Alman and Waters dropped from the head of the line at Second street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest to review the parade, and they were joined by the legislative committee of the Army, headed by Harold B. Foulkrod, who, through its lobbying activities, assured a vote on the bonus by obtaining the 145 signatures necessary to bring the Patman $2,000,000,000 bonus bill to the floor of the House.

Directly behind the leaders in the parade were 14 heroes of the World War, headed by James E. Rogers, of Miles City, Mont., the holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, the French Legion of Honor, the Victor Emanuel Medal and the French Croix de Guerre.

To hear him tell it, they were all awarded for "getting excited near Verdun and getting some information." But he obtained the information, it was learned, by becoming a prisoner in the German army, getting the lists of strategic positions on the Hindenburg line, burning down a German prison camp, escaping to the allied lines and giving the information to the allied command.

Others in Hero Group.

This "bit of information" enabled the allies to drive a wedge in the line. Now, he can do no wrong in France or in any of its possessions. Others in the group of heroes were:

Walter J. Koch, of New York, Croix de Guerre with bronze star; Raymond W. Tomlinson, of El Centro, Calif., Distinguished Service Cross, and one of the seven holders of the French Fourrager, the Croix de Guerre; E. L.

CURB ON GLASSFORD BENEVOLENCE URGED

Congress Members Critical of His Efforts to Aid Bonus Marchers.

Believing that Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford's treatment of the bonus marchers has caused a greater number to come to Washington and will prolong their stay here, certain members of Congress have requested White House pressure to change the superintendent of police's program, it was learned last night.

Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, Police Commissioner, yesterday denied a printed report that he had warned Gen. Glassford that the continuation of his efforts to feed and shelter the members of the bonus expeditionary forces might terminate in his "preemptory dismissal" by the President.

It is understood that the friction began on Saturday when Crosby was said to have suggested to the police chief that he stop his efforts to provide food and shelter for the marchers because these activities were drawing more men to Washington.

According to reports Glassford is

DISSENSION RUMOR DENIED BY DAVILA

Job for Every Man in Chile Within One Month, Promise of New Regime.

Santiago, Chile, June 7 (A.P.).—Discord was reported today among the members of the junta which seized the government Saturday and dedicated Chile to socialism, but Carlos Davila, the junta's civilian chief, denied there was any friction.

Senor Davila, former Chilean Ambassador to Washington, categorically denied widespread rumors that he had threatened to resign from the governmental body.

He likewise denied there was unrest in the south, or that there was a counter-revolutionary movement, although meager reports from the affected region said such a movement, which started yesterday, continued to smolder.

While the leader of the junta reaffirmed his plan to tax the rich for the relief of the workers and unemployed, several thousand workers gathered near the presidential palace and pledged their cooperation in the contemplated program.

Decisions Are Held Up.

The leaders of the revolutionary government, however, were holding up their decisions on several pressing problems, including the issue to suppressing religious orders, in the hope of reaching complete internal accord before they took any drastic action.

Senor Davila told the Associated Press that church property, as well as privately owned foreign and domestic property, would be respected.

Provincial authorities were instructed by the junta to begin rationing gasoline, which was scarce on account of a lack of foreign exchange.

Oil companies were instructed to give the authorities daily lists of the amount of gasoline available for sale. The officials are to apportion this amount, giving preference to buses, taxicabs, trucks and commercial cars, letting private automobiles have what there is left.

After appointing a committee of professors and students to take charge of the National University, the junta believed its controversies with the students, who had threatened a general strike, were ended.

Lock Selves in Buildings.

Student opponents of the new regime in Santiago had locked themselves within university buildings to avoid molestation as they proceeded with plans for the strike. Both young men and young women participated in the student agitation.

The government, moving to reorganize the university to provide stricter control of undergraduates, appointed a committee of three professors and three students, which took charge.

One of the main purposes of the Government, Davila explained, will be to remove the burdens on workers and on the unemployed.

"Within one month, it can safely be predicted, there will be no unemployment in Chile," he said. "We will have a job for every man now out of work.

"This is what we will do—we will create three state companies, one for agriculture, one industrial and one mining. Each of these companies will employ the unemployed of the country."

PRESSURE BROUGHT TO CURB GLASSFORD

said to have answered that he would discontinue these activities if he was given direct orders by the District Commissioners, but that he would continue his present program and assume the responsibility until he was officially ordered to do otherwise.

In defending his action, Gen. Glassford was reported to have stated that his reason for obtaining quarters for the men was to keep them occupied and under supervision, and that he took charge of the funds given for food by veterans' organizations and other donors in order that they be equitably and properly spent.

He has indicated that he will continue to feed and shelter the petitioners until the deadline tomorrow morning, as set by the Commissioners, unless he receives definite instructions to do otherwise.

It was said that there had been criticism at the District Building of Gen. Glassford's action last week when he sought aid for the veterans at the White House without first consulting the Commissioners.

MEDAL HOLDERS LEAD BONUS PARADE

Associated Press and Post Staff Photos.

Turning out in unexpected numbers to witness the bonus marchers parade last night, Washingtonians applauded many of the features of the procession. Upper: James E. Rogers, of Miles City, Mont., holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, headed the parade, leading a delegation of fourteen former service men who wear Distinguished Service Crosses from the United States Government and various other decorations of honor from the British and French. Lower: Blond Clyde Wright, 6-year-old son of a Hollywood, Calif., veteran, tagged along at his dad's heels, leading "Bonus," puppy mascot of the far Western veteran contingent. The pair got a big hand from the crowds along the line of march.

HOTEL FIRE KILLS 11; DOZEN ARE MISSING

Explosion Preceded Blaze in Six-Story Cleveland Structure.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 7 (A.P.).—A dozen persons were missing tonight in the wake of a disastrous explosion and fire that early today destroyed the Ellington Apartment Hotel with an accompanying loss of eleven lives and injuries to two score.

As firemen dug into the great piles of blackened brick and masonry, they expressed the belief it would be several days before the toll is definitely established.

The six-story frame-brick building, a landmark in downtown Cleveland at East Ninth street and Superior avenue since the 90s, was shattered by a mysterious explosion shortly after midnight and immediately enveloped in sheets of flame that trapped more than 150 residents in their rooms.

Only four bodies have been removed from the building, but firemen and police located seven others wedged in the debris. Tottering walls and the masses of ruins make it problematical when they will be reached.

Three separate investigations were under way into the origin of the blast, so terrific that it shook the entire business district and hurled streamers of flame nearly 100 feet above the top of the building. It was followed by other and smaller blasts.

One theory is that leaking gas was responsible. Police arson squads combing the ruins found several cans of alcohol in the basement and announced the discovery warranted a grand jury investigation into the fire.

Estimates of the property damage to the apartment and shops ranged from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Seth Thomas, Jr., Clock Manufacturer, Is Dead

Jersey City, N. J., June 7 (A.P.).—Seth Thomas, jr., president of the Seth Thomas Clock Co. since 1915, died today at Christ Hospital from a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 55 years old.

Stricken while on his way to business in New York City this morning, Mr. Thomas was unconscious in his seat when the train reached Hoboken. He was rushed to the hospital, but never regained consciousness. Surviving are his wife and two daughters, all of Morristown.

Clarence True Wilson In Asbury College Post

Wilmore, Ky., June 7 (A.P.).—Bishop Arthur J. Moore of the Methodist Episcopal Church South was elected president of the board of trustees of Asbury College today following commencement exercises.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of Washington, was elected vice president, and Dr. H. C. Morrison, president for the last 27 years, was named president emeritus.

Defender, Hunted In Murder, Jailed

F.J. Egan, Wanted in Death of Wealthy Benefactress, Surrenders.

San Francisco, June 7 (A.P.).—Frank J. Egan, ousted public defender, surrendered here today to answer a charge of murdering his benefactress, alleged to gain control of her estate.

Missing since Saturday, just before the county grand jury indicted him and two of his followers for the murder of Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes, Egan walked into a district police station and calmly submitted to arrest 24 hours after the time set by his attorney, Vincent W. Hallinan, for the surrender.

Egan denied reports he had threatened to "tear the police department wide open" if he were arrested.

Chief William J. Quinn asked the prisoner if he had anything to disclose that might show crookedness on the part of any member of the department, and Egan answered negatively. Previously Hallinan and Egan had repeatedly insisted the public defender was being "framed" by the police.

Egan was given a suit of dungarees and locked behind the bars from which he had freed many a man in his eleven years as public defender.

"Go to Hell!" Lewis Tells Bonus Group

Illinois Senator Retorts Sharply When Criticized for Speech.

(Associated Press.)

"You can go to hell," was the response a group of "bonus marchers" got from Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, when they accosted him in the corridor of the Capitol. He was accosted by a group of bonus marchers as he entered the Capitol and they began to berate him for a speech he had made urging them to leave the city. They began to argue with him, and said they had voted for him but still had votes.

"If you are from Illinois, you are dishonoring the State," Lewis shot back at them. The senator, as he told the story yesterday, then warned he would do his best to stop all veterans legislation while they were in Washington.

"We are here to see that you fellows get right and we are going to stay here until you do what we want done," the spokesman of the group said. "You know where you'll go, don't you?" another of the group said.

"I don't know what you mean," Lewis shot back, "but you can go to hell and I'll go back into the Senate to my duties."

Father Cox Will Urge Marchers to Go Home

Pittsburgh, June 7 (A.P.).—The Rev. James R. Cox, who led the jobless army to Washington last winter, announced tonight he will fly to Washington Thursday to urge the bonus "marchers" to return home "like soldiers."

Father Cox said he will address the veterans Thursday at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier as a result of requests from veterans in Trenton, N. J., Flint, Mich., Alabama and Erie, Pa. "I want the boys, my buddies, to make their demand in an orderly way and return to their homes without trouble," the priest said.

340 Men Are Saved As Fishing Ship Sinks

Tokyo, Wednesday, June 8 (A.P.).—Dispatches from Hakodate, Japan, today said 300 Russian fishermen and 40 members of the crew were believed to have been rescued from the Japanese fishing steamer Genzan Maru, which struck a rock Sunday in a dense fog off Karaginsky Island, east of Kamchatka.

The rescue ship, Ryuto Maru, reached the scene of the wreck and rescued some from boats, other refugees already having reached shore. The Genzan Maru was abandoned yesterday when it was found to have been badly damaged. It was bound from Vladivostok for the Kamchatka fishing grounds. The ship was believed to be a total loss.

Doctor, in Prison for Life, Requests He Be Hanged

Hartford, Conn., June 7 (A.P.).—Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle, who is serving a life sentence for the slaying of Mrs. Clare Cavanaugh Gaudet in 1928, petitioned the superior court today to order him hanged.

The 47-year-old veterinarian, who previously had maintained that a mysterious man shot Mrs. Gaudet and wounded himself, asked that his conviction be changed to first degree murder as a just and merciful act.

He based his plea to Judge P. B. O'Sullivan on what he considers a technical error by the three judges who convicted him of second degree murder. Their sentence, he contended read "as charged in said indictment," whereas the grand jury held him for murder in the first degree.

While some court officials were inclined to the belief that Dr. Guilfoyle sent the petition only to focus attention on his case, Judge O'Sullivan ordered Public Defender Reinhart L. Gideon to study the unusual request.

SENATE GROUP ADDS 2,000 U. S. OFFICERS

Committee Later Corrects Army Bill to Provide Pay for Extra Leaders.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate appropriations committee yesterday decided the Army needed 2,000 more officers than the 10,000 the House thought it should have, but overlooked for a time the point of providing money for their salaries.

To correct this error, the bill, carrying nearly $400,000,000, was rushed off the floor and back to the committee at the request of Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, who is in charge of it. The $27,209,927 the House provided for pay was raised to $31,833,427, and the bill returned to the Senate.

Reductions in the pay items set aside for retirement in the House bill, and other resultant necessary changes, made the net increase for salaries $3,784,414 that the committee had failed to account for in first reporting the measure.

As the bill came from the House, it carried $392,586,146, which was reduced by the Senate committee to $389,578,513, as it stood after being corrected. This was $21,785,249 under the estimates for the fiscal year 1933, and $56,194,722 under the 1932 appropriations.

The largest single reduction was a slash of $5,772,510 for rivers and harbors work. The House bill carried approximately $60,000,000 for this purpose. Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, said materials for this work were cheaper now than in the past.

Secretary Hurley, in the committee hearings, told members 12,000 officers were necessary for national defense. He also explained to them that moving home the 2,000 cut off by the House would entail a great deal of expense so that the savings would not be so large, after all.

Explaining the national defense act required a strength of 14,063 officers, and that this had been reduced to 12,000 over some years, Mr. Hurley added "any further reduction can not be made without serious jeopardy to the immediate and future safety of the country."

DE VALERA MEETING WITH PREMIER SEEN

Irish President Confers With British Secretary on Reconciliation.

Dublin, Irish Free State, June 7 (A.P.).—Negotiations aimed at eradicating the differences between Great Britain and the Irish Free State started today when J. H. Thomas, British Dominion Secretary, spent an hour and a half with President Eamon De Valera in the Free State Government Building.

After their conversation, Mr. Thomas said he would leave it to Mr. De Valera to make any announcement, as the president served as host. An official communique told (nothing about the subjects considered, emphasizing instead that the meeting was preliminary in character.

It was assumed in some quarters, however, that preparations had been made for a meeting between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and President Eamon De Valera in London on Friday.

War Secretary Present.

Mr. Thomas was accompanied by Lord Hailsham, secretary for war, James Geoghegan, Free State minister for justice, also was present.

Lord Hailsham is an authority on constitutional law, a circumstance taken as an indication that the British conferees were prepared to go into the issue of Mr. De Valera's effort to discard the oath of allegiance to the British crown.

It was considered certain that the oath question had been touched upon, although previously word was given out that it would not be.

Representatives Leave Smiling.

At the conclusion of the conference the two British representatives were smiling and apparently pleased with the progress that had been made.

The official statement recorded "a preliminary exchange of views which will be followed by a discussion in London Friday as already arranged." The Irish President will go to London for the next conference.

The purpose of the negotiations is to clear away outstanding differences in preparation for the Ottawa imperial economic conference. In addition to the oath question, Anglo-Irish relations have been disturbed by Mr. De Valera's plan to discontinue payment of land annuities to the British.

100,000 SEE VETERANS' ARMY IN BIG PARADE DOWN AVENUE

Buchada, of Heidelberg, Pa., the Distinguished Service Cross; Russell Sheppard, of Pittston, Pa., the Distinguished Service Cross; Joseph B. Alexander, of Englewood, Calif., the Naval Medal of Honor; Edgar B. Reeves, of Seattle, Wash., the Distinguished Service Cross, the Croix de Guerre, and the Medal de Militaire, the highest French decoration to an enlisted man, and William A. Butler, colored, of 1314 Fifteenth street northwest, the Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre.

Of Different Nationalities.

Twilight fell as the silver helmeted drum and bugle corps of the Victory Post of the American Legion, with its black-plumed and gold-caped drum major, swung into Pennsylvania avenue, followed by the Oregon delegation, and then the bonus seekers from all other States of the Union.

They were just like the armies that marched away in '17 and '18. There were Americans, Italians, Spaniards, Chinese, Negroes, lumberjacks, clerks, cow hands, mechanics, laborers, salesmen and men of numerous other occupations.

Heavy police details patrolled the line of march in anticipation of a threatened Communist riot. Rumors of a plot were denied yesterday by the joint committee of the Workers Ex-Service Men's League as having no "foundation in fact."

Communists who could produce discharge certificates were permitted to march in the parade. There were strict orders against any demonstration. The only manifestation of disorder came when a group of colored men tried to break through the lines near Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue, but were driven back by police.

Just before the start of the parade one of the veterans collapsed and was taken to Emergency Hospital.

Spectators were friendly to the men and many shouted encouragement and approval. Cables lined either side of Pennsylvania avenue and held the reviewers in check. Police patrols were stationed in side streets for use in case of emergency.

In the ranks were 100 reds, designated as shock troops of the Communist forces—whose specific instructions from their leaders were to provoke "bloodshed by rioting and force." Ready to squelch any overt attempt to create disorder were the veterans themselves, who pledged their aid to Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, to assist should the Reds riot.

Cheered by Crowds.

There were outbreaks of cheers as disabled veterans rode by in trucks. The American flag was the only national symbol displayed by the marchers. The colors headed each company. Some of the flags were tattered and frayed.

Gone was the spring and jauntiness that every one saw in these men when they marched away to the World War. Many of them limped, seemed tired, and the rigors of distress were written hard into their sun-baked faces.

Their thoughts were written on the placards they carried. "Remember 1917-18—Pay the Bonus Now." "Pay the Bonus," "Nomus Squadron—Let's Go," "We Want the Bonus," "Here We Stay, Til the Bonus They Pay," "Georgia Vets Rebels-Yanks, United We Stand," "Suppose the Kaiser Had Won the War? Would the Bonus Have Paid the Bill."

On and on the marchers stepped. More banners. "Millions for War—Not One Cent for the Hungry Vets." "Remember November," "No Bonus—No Votes," "Who Won the War? We Haven't Won Anything."

Their leaders had harangued them throughout the day with the watchwords—"Every man walk who can, and carry those who can't."

Their leaders told them to help police should an outbreak occur. There were service units ready for emergency. The Army forces at Fort Myer stood ready for immediate call and other service men were standing by.

Tomorrow at 8 a. m. is the "zero hour" for the veterans' army of occupation. At that hour Gen. Glassford will turn over all funds of the organization to the leaders. The District Commissioners will place trucks at their disposal to take them 50 miles in the direction of their homes. But the men say they are "here to stay till the bonus is paid."

Two Women Are Arrested.

Federal agents and the veterans' police worked all yesterday purging agitators from the ranks. Two women agitators from New Jersey appeared at the encampment in Anacostia and attempted to make speeches to small groups. They were unceremoniously dumped into a thatch of brambles at the end of the field.

Undercover agents from the Federal agencies circulated throughout the soldiers' ranks. A charge of sedition may be lodged against Leon A. Odgen, who gave Camden and Philadelphia as addresses. Veterans told authorities he spoke to a group of them and said they would "blow up the White House" before they left. Other derogatory remarks were attributed to him and he was arrested by the veterans, who roughly took him to the Eleventh Precinct station. They offered to testify against him.

Herman Levine, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was taken to the Eleventh Precinct Station by Morris Fishman, of Atlantic City, after he attempted to enlist the men in the ranks of the Workers' Ex-Service Men's League, a Communist organization. He was later released.

Another group of 30 men, who had cards identifying them as affiliates of the same organization, was taken to the Eleventh Precinct Station by the veterans' police, and Capt. Sidney J. Marks ordered the men from the camp and warned them against mingling with the veterans.

Rankin, Bonus Talker, Stays Away From Hill

The sign over the door of Representative John E. Rankin (Democrat), of Mississippi, proclaiming his office as headquarters of the veterans committee, has been removed since the invasion of the bonus marchers, and Rankin is now reported to be in Mississippi.

Rankin, along with Representative Wright Patman, of Texas, has been the noisiest of the advocates for a $2,000,000,000 bonus bill, and today the foes of the bonus in Congress hold him to be largely responsible for the mobilization of veterans here.

In 1927, during the famous Fenning investigation, Frank Hogan, Washington lawyer, revealed that Rankin had spent less than 40 days in the Army. Rankin threw an ink well at Hogan.

ed in Uniontown by local police. The suspects gave their names as Earl L. Eddings, David W. Frantton, Ralph D. Logie, Ferdinand Bozello and John Burtman. They had 73 men with them.

Meanwhile, more than 250 bonus "marchers" from Cleveland and Steubenville were also in Washington on their way to the National Capital.

Newcastle, Pa., June 7 (A.P.).—Demands for food and transportation to Pittsburgh were presented to Mayor C. B. Hayne and the Lawrence County Commissioners today by a group of men en route from Detroit and Toledo, Ohio, to Washington to ask payment of a soldiers' bonus.

The group of 383, led by C. B. Cowan, traveled to the Pennsylvania State line in buses provided at Akron, Ohio. They are members of the bonus army that halted freight trains in Cleveland railroad yards last week.

Connellsville, Pa., June 7 (A.P.).—Harassed Baltimore & Ohio Railroad officials were willing to compromise today with World War veterans insistent on getting to Washington by freight train.

Five hundred members of the bonus army sat tight in the B. & O. yards all day yesterday while the railroad delayed its freight schedule, hoping to be freed of the encumbrance of hauling the veterans. A trainload of live stock, however, had to be moved out last night and when it left a cheering throng of veterans climbed aboard.

No sooner were the yards clear than there came a new bonus brigade of about 500 men to replace those Washington-bound. While these latter waited today, the B. & O. offered its compromise. The officials said they would haul half of the men if the rest would travel on the Western Maryland road.

Harrisonburg, Va., June 7 (A.P.).—The West Virginia "bonus army" motoring through here last night en route to Washington to join the demonstration there, left two wounded Rockingham County jail prisoners in its wake.

One of the veterans, E. L. Deborn, 35, a former patient at the Government hospital at Huntington, W. Va., went berserk and attacked imaginary enemies with a knife, in the jail where he was confined for safe keeping.

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 7 (Special). Beset with difficulties along the road because of old and worn motor equipment they are using, 47 weary bonus seekers arrived here today from Lexington, Ky., on their way to Washington.

Danville, Ill., June 7 (A.P.).—Two hundred war veterans from East St Louis, Ill., en route to join the bonus "army" at Washington, arrived here early today on the Wabash Railroad and planned to leave later in the day for Terre Haute, Ind., over the Chicago & Eastern Illinois line.

They said a hundred more would come on the next Wabash freight train before daybreak, and they expected anotner hundred to join them in Danville, some from the National Soldiers' Home here.

Erie, Pa., June 7 (A.P.).—Forty men from Seattle, Wash., who are en route to Washington to seek payment of the soldiers' bonus, were fed here at noon today by an American Legion Post. They will leave tonight for Harrisburg. The group is part of a delegation of 320 who left the Pacific Coast.

100 ARE GRADUATED BY TRINITY COLLEGE

Princeton Professor Tells Class Opportunity to Aid World Is at Hand.

A little knowledge is dangerous, the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, archbishop of the Diocese of Baltimore, told the graduating students of Trinity College at their commencement exercises yesterday. "Go out into the pariah and learn human nature and work in the field of your education," he advised the 100 graduates.

Dr. Hugh S. Taylor, professor at Princeton University, told the group that American Catholics are only beginning to realize the "intellectual problems with which we are beset today." In science, literature and religion Catholics are not giving as large a share of leaders as is the faith in Europe, he asserted. "If Catholics are to mold the spiritual destiny of America it must be our ambition to increase its quota along the whole intellectual front," Dr. Taylor said.

Opportunity at Hand.

"The elevation of intellectual standards in the Catholic community will influence the progress of the Nation. To acquire and to maintain such high standards of intellectual attainment and to superimpose on a firm foundation of faith are the objectives of the graduates of your school.

"The opportunity to contribute in a larger measure to the work of the world is at hand. We must cease to be essentially parochial and self-contained. We must share with our fellowmen the riches of our heritage."

Hoover Discipline Called "Bribery"

McFadden Scores President for Stripping Him of Patronage.

(Associated Press.)

Stripped of his own patronage for a verbal attack on President Hoover last December, Representative McFadden (Republican), Pennsylvania, said yesterday that such executive discipline was the "worst sort of bribery."

McFadden made the statement in a letter to Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, asking him whether he intended to keep the patronage for the Fifteenth District of Pennsylvania. Reed replied that McFadden was within his rights in "uttering the beliefs you hold regarding President Hoover," but that "the President does not follow the recommendations of Democrats or other political adversaries" in making appointments.

McFadden lost his patronage privileges when he charged President Hoover with "selling out" to Germany in arranging the moratorium.

"The duty of a congressman under our Constitution," McFadden wrote to Reed, "is to his constituents. How can we say that we have a representative government if the men we elect to the parliamentary offices of the Nation are simply to be rubber stamps for the Executive and the men who put the campaign contributions into the party chests?"

Senate Group Opposes Fight on Stimson's Aid

(Associated Press.)

So far as the Senate appropriations committee is concerned, Secretary Stimson can keep Capt. Eugene Regnier as his military aid.

The committee, reporting yesterday on the War Department appropriation bill, recommended removal of a section inserted by the House prohibiting use of any of the funds to pay for a military aid to a civil officer of the Government. Its purpose was to prevent payment of Regnier's salary.

New Book by Crosby Criticizes Congress

In a new book, placed on sale this week, Percy Crosby, of McLean, Va., well-known for his written attacks on political and religious intolerance, offers an interesting dialogue between a patriot and a pacifist.

The book, entitled "Patriotism," is illustrated with three striking cartoons, manifesting a strong disapproval of methods employed and utilized by lawmakers in Congress. Mr. Crosby has revealed the circumstances surrounding the passage of the eighteenth amendment, listing the votes of congressmen, together with their political and religious faiths.

Mystery Special Lends Zest to Aimless Travel

By JOHN J. DALY

ONCE it was the mystery story that fascinated the mind of man. Now it is the Mystery Special, a new idea for increasing passenger travel on the railroads.

The destination of the train kept secret, round trip tickets to nowhere in particular are sold at a small sum. The passengers get aboard not knowing where they are bound for. Even the engineer is unaware of the route until he opens sealed orders miles away from the starting point.

This is getting back to the war days, when ships left Hoboken, their captains not knowing the course to be pursued over the high seas, and a bunch of doughboys aboard the lugger, singing "We Don't Know Where We're Going, But We're on Our Way."

Well, why not? After all, that is life, and that is the way to travel—ignorant of where you are going, here, there, or yon. The uncertainty of it adds zest to the journey.

One man marks a pathway and intends to adhere strictly to it, never diverting, never getting off on sidetracks, until he reaches his goal. He never gets there, and so is unsuccessful.

• • • •

ANOTHER man just ambles along, this way and that, getting into the by-paths and out of them, not knowing, caring less, until finally he reaches a destination—any old port in a storm—and he is successful. Not having any definite goal, he just can not fail.

It is a mystery, of course, how some people arrive where they are going, whether they know the road or not. That, though, is the charming way to travel.

So, the Mystery Specials are exceedingly popular. If they continue as they have started they may put the poor old railroads back on their feet.

Forsooth, the wheels of the Nation's rolling stock have done little turning under the old order, which was to run along on schedule time, the trains going to humdrum places, with humdrum people aboard, knowing always just where to get off.

The other way is better: All aboard, and nobody bored.

Just get on a train and go!

Platform in One Syllable Is Aim

Shouse Says Major Issues Stated for Child of 10 Best Party Flag.

A platform "in words of one syllable which a child of 10 could understand" on the problems of unemployment, the tariff and prohibition with an honest pledge of economy in government was advocated last night by Jouett Shouse as the best battle flag for the Democratic presidential candidate to carry in the elections of November.

The chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee addressed a meeting of the Young Democrats Club at the Mayflower Hotel. He said President Hoover would be nominated "more grudgingly and more unwillingly than any other President."

Mr. Shouse refused to make any prediction as to the nominee of the Democratic party, but he did venture the prediction that the nomination would be achieved in one week.

I. C. C. Rules Rail Rates On Hard Coal Too High

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday ruled that rates on anthracite coal from mines in the Lehigh and Wyoming regions in Pennsylvania to destinations on the Baltimore & Ohio in Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia were unreasonable and unduly prejudicial.

Debt Compromise Article Is Denied

Paper in London Hints U. S. Will Cancel Payments if Europe Disarms.

(Associated Press.)

Undersecretary of State William R. Castle, jr., yesterday described as "ridiculous" the editorial of the London Evening Standard suggesting that the United States may have entered into an agreement with European nations to cancel their war debts if they agree to disarm.

The editorial said a world economic conference in which the question of war debts is not discussed would be "Hamlet without the Prince of Denmark," and then offered the suggestion that possibly the United States has made an agreement with European powers which can not be made public until after the presidential election in this country.

Secretary Stimson has repeatedly stated that the consent of the United States to participate in a world economic conference was given with the provision that reparations and war debts would not be considered. This country even refused to participate in such a conference if it were held in Lausanne because the European conference beginning at Lausanne July 16, is basically a reparations conference.

CITY HEADS CANCEL BORLAND ACT TAXES

Move to Clear Titles on Property Affected by Moot Paving Law.

All unpaid assessments and unpaid balances of assessments partially paid under the moot Borland paving law were canceled by the District Commissioners yesterday upon recommendation of Corporation Counsel William W. Bride as a result of the decision Monday of the District Court of Appeals in the suit instituted by Ida M. Miller.

The cancellations concern all unpaid assessments for work completed prior to February 20, 1928. The act of February 20, 1931, invalidated assessments for the three-year period prior to its passage.

The action was taken chiefly to clear the titles on a number of pieces of property on which the old Borland law assessments were still unpaid. Property owners who paid these old assessments have no legal claim for refunds because of the statute of limitations, it was explained, but they may file claims with the Commissioners for consideration on their merits.

Corporation Counsel Bride pointed out in his recommendation that the Court of Appeals decision in the Miller case makes it certain that the District would be unable to collect these back assessments as the properties involved had their short frontage abutting the street paved and were all substantially of equal depth.

"If assessments against properties of this character can not be sustained, it is manifest that no assessments under the Borland paving law are valid," he stated.

Home Loan Bank Bill Is Approved

Gets Legislative Preference in House; Democrat Opposes It.

(Associated Press.)

The administration program for establishment of a home loan banking system was approved and given legislative preference yesterday by the House rules committee.

Chairman Pou said the rule allowing two hours debate on the Reilly home loan bill had been "overwhelmingly approved" by the committee and that the measure would be brought to a House vote "before adjournment."

Representative Williams (Democrat), Missouri, a member of the banking committee, opposed the measure on the ground that it was not necessary since the Reconstruction Corporation could help and was helping building and loan associations.

The measure would provide the establishment of eight to twelve home loan banks, each with a minimum capital stock of $5,000,000 to be subscribed by members. Any stock not subscribed would be purchased by the corporation up to a total of $125,000,000.

HERRIOT IS UPHELD ON FOREIGN POLICY

sition from his predecessor in the premiership, Andre Tardieu.

M. Tardieu, in an address strongly critical of the Socialists, said that if Premier Herriot took the same position at Geneva that Tardieu had, the former premier would support him. The Socialists, while not in the government, have given it nominal support.

M. Herriot replied that the ministerial declaration which he presented was clear and read again that portion on disarmament, saying that his Radical-Socialists were faithful to the security of France.

Asserting he and his colleagues would take a determined stand at the impending Lausanne reparations conference against violation of treaties and contracts, he still left the way open for reparations negotiations.

"The government is ready," he said, "to discuss any project or take any initiative likely to provoke, by reciprocity, greater world stability or peaceful reconciliations."

Premier Herriot probably will go to Geneva next Monday to review the disarmament situation and discuss the coming conference at Lausanne on war debts and reparations with leading statesmen at the seat of the League of Nations.

Berlin, June 7 (A.P.).—If the Reichstag elections to be held on July 31 do not clarify the German political situation, a high official in the foreign office said today, President von Hindenburg will dissolve the Reichstag for a second time and order another election.

Chancellor Franz von Papen will head the German delegation to the Lausanne debts parley on June 16, it was semiofficially announced tonight.

Other members of the group will be Baron von Neurath and Hermann Warnbold, members of the cabinet; Ernest Trendlenburg and Herr von Buelow, undersecretaries. Hans Luther, governor of the Reichsbank, will go along as financial expert.

Mrs. Hausner Will Get $2,000 of Film Union

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—The wife of Stanislaus Hausner, Newark, N. J., flier who took off last Friday on an attempted flight to Poland and has not been heard from since he flew over Nova Scotia that afternoon, will be paid $2,000 by the Motion Picture Machine Operators Union, Local 306, the union announced today.

The money will be paid under the section of the by-laws of the union which provides that, "on the death of a member in good standing this union shall pay the sum of $2,000 to a beneficiary named by the deceased, in writing, prior to the death of such member." Hausner joined the union in 1924, when he was a motion picture machine operator.

House Group Approves Fund for World Court

(Associated Press.)

The House foreign affairs committee yesterday approved the expenditure of $53,895 for American participation in the World Court, despite the Senate's failure to approve the protocol of adherence.

Chairman Linthicum said payment of the money would "save the American taxpayers more than $130,000 a year by making unnecessary the creation of additional arbitration boards."

Volcano Slayer Warned He Will Haunt Girl's Kin

Hilo, Hawaii, June 7 (A.P.).—A letter from Sylvester Nunes threatening to return from death and haunt the parents of the girl he slew and jumped with into the fire pit of Kilauea Volcano was disclosed by authorities today.

Rigging of cables across the fire pit into which R. Kunishi, Japanese contractor, will be lowered in an attempt to rescue the bodies of Nunes and Margaret Enos was completed today. Kunishi prepared for his descent into the pit at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Nunes leaped into the pit last Thursday with the girl because she refused to marry him. He is believed to have shot her first.

Two Aviators Plan Himalayan Flight

Williams and McKinley Ask for Permission to Make Trip.

(Associated Press.)

Plans of two well-known fliers, Lieut. Alford J. Williams and Capt. Ashley McKinley, to scale the lofty Himalayas by airplane became known yesterday at the State Department, where application was filed for permission to fly over foreign territory.

Williams, noted stunt pilot and racer, was formerly with the Navy and single-handed promoted the building of the Mercury racer in 1929 in an attempt to keep Great Britain from winning permanent possession of the Schneider Cup trophy. The seaplane was never entered because, in tests on the Severn River, it was unable to rise from the water.

Capt. McKinley, aerial surveyor of the Byrd Antarctic expedition and one of the crew who flew over the South Pole, is an authority on aerial photography and it is understood that he will make pictures on the Himalayan flight, while Williams pilots.

Williams, who was born in Bronx County, N. Y., in 1894, is a graduate of Fordham University and played baseball with the New York Giants for two seasons. Capt. McKinley, who was born in Marshall, Tex., in 1896, was a private in the Missouri National Guard when forces concentrated on the Mexican border and joined the Signal Corps aviation section when America entered the World War.

Shouse Sees Omen In Iowa Primary

Large Gain in Democratic Vote Viewed as Sign of Party's Strength.

(Associated Press.)

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, said yesterday "as an augury of what will happen next November, the Democrats have every reason to rejoice over the showing" in recent elections.

"In a statement, he quoted a report from Richard P. Mitchell, Democratic national committeeman from Iowa, that the primary there Tuesday brought out 150,000 Democratic votes, adding:

"As the largest previous Democratic vote in that State was about 40,000, it is evident that the tide of stupendous gains in Democratic strength manifested in other sections has extended to this rock-ribbed Republican stronghold.

"In these same primaries the Republicans registered approximately 250,000 which is many thousands below their normal, although in the battle among Senator Brookhart and his rivals for the senatorial nomination there were five candidates to bring out the vote."

Garner Is Called Puppet of Hearst

Relief Plan Is "Just Mousetrap Rolled in Cheese," Says Crowther.

(Associated Press.)

Speaker Garner sat on the floor of the House yesterday and grinned while Representative Crowther (Republican), New York, referred to him as the man "Mr. Hearst nominated" for President.

That was the reason, Crowther said, that the Speaker let the sales tax be brought before the House.

"Garner never was and never has been for the sales tax," Crowther said, as members laughed. "But he had to act as if he were for it because it was supported by the strongest man in the United States, Mr. Hearst, who nominated him for President."

Crowther added that Garner's relief bill was "designed deliberately to embarrass those of us who don't vote for it," and called the measure "just a mousetrap rolled up in cheese."

Garner left the chamber as soon as Crowther completed his speech.

Harriet Chalmers Adams, president of the society, will make the presentation. Escorting Miss Earhart from New York will be Blair Niles, Delia Akeley, Gertrude Emerson, Marjorie Trunbull, Gertrude Mathews Shelby and Grace E. Barstow Murphy.

The Putnams will return to Paris on June 11, take a trip to Brussels the next day, and return to Paris on the 13th. They plan to sail for home June 14.

About The Showshops

With NELSON B. BELL

JUST as Washington was privileged to view the first of the stage hits based on the keyhole adventures of the gossip columnists, in "Blessed Event," so it is now to be accorded a pre-release showing of the first of the screen plays based on the same subject and derived from practically the same source.

"Is My Face Red?" although dated for national release as of June 17, will be the attraction at RKO-Keith's for the week beginning this Friday, according to announcement made yesterday by Manager Hardie Meakin. This is RKO-Radio Pictures camera rendition of the exciting life of a columnar gossip which presents Ricardo Cortez, Helen Twelvetrees and Robert Armstrong in the pivotal roles. It will be the first of at least three pictures dealing with the same subject to reach the Capital, the other two in prospect being the Warners' picturization of the play, "Blessed Event," in which both James Cagney and Lee Tracy have been scheduled to appear, and "Okay, America."

The sudden booking in of "Is My Face Red?" a week in advance of its release date, signalizes the indefinite postponement, insofar as Washington is concerned, of "Hold 'em Jail," the last of the Wheeler and Woolsey joint starring vehicles which, according to the present outlook, will not be seen locally before the opening of the fall season in September. This is looked upon as the best of the laugh-provokers turned out by the comics who recently severed diplomatic relations.

Definite word comes to hand over the signature of George E. Leavitt, public relations counsel, speaking on behalf of Mr. Jimmy Lake, the Chesterfieldian Beau Brummel of Ninth Street and the sports arenas, that the Gayety Theater will close its season on Saturday night of the current week. Mr. Lake again is receiving the congratulations of an army of friends upon having once more achieved the longest and most profitable season of any house on the Columbia Circuit with his Gayety.

Mine, too, Jimmy!

Among the outstanding events of the week will be the dance concert by the senior group of the Evelyn Davis School of Dance, to be given in the Wardman Park Theater Saturday evening, June 11, at 8:30. The program will include dramatic creations in dance form, psychological and abstract studies expressed in choreography, as well as original interpretative dances created by Miss Davis and the 30 members of her senior group.

This column is not apprised of the dates during which "Westward Passage," the Radio production starring Ann Harding, currently occupying the screen at RKO-Keith's, was what the industry calls "in work," and it does not retain any accurate mental imprint of the dates during which Miss Harding's marital readjustments were in process of working themselves out, but the suspicion is that they were dangerously near—if not quite—coincidental.

It is to that that I attribute the depression that seems to have been upon Miss Harding during her appearances before the cameras and microphones in this subject. The story of "Westward Passage" strikes dangerously near home in Miss Harding's case. The name of her first husband in the picture, even, is Harry, the name of her real husband, Mr. Bannister, from whom she was recently divorced for the sake of his career and his ego, or something.

That is about what happens in the film play, so no wonder she couldn't muster the last ounce of ebullience and spontaneity in all those tantalizing lines about "I can't do that to Harry," "What about Harry?" "Harry has been so sweet" and all the rest of them!

It all looks surprisingly like a deliberate plot to make it as tough as possible for the beatific blonde in this particular picture at this particular time. Under the circumstances she bears up remarkably!

In the character of the author-husband in "Westward Passage," incidentally, there is a considerable suggestion of the role played by John Boles in Universal's picturization of Charles Norris' "Seed"—or had you already thought of that?

Boatswain Charles Warren McClintock, erstwhile publicist de luxe for Miss Helen Hayes, who deserted from the good ship Frantic, in command of Capt. Francois Felippe Morse, for a week-end outing twelve days ago, straggled feebly over the starboard rail in time for mess call this morning, according to a late bulletin posted on the bridge.

It is understood that instead of being shanghaied for ransom, Capt. Morse was paid handsomely to take the boatswain back!

A pleasant call yesterday afternoon from Horace Heidt, whose Californians are packing them in at the Earle this week.

Mr. Heidt, who has just completed a tour of New England, reports business at a lethargic low ebb up in the mill country. He is, accordingly, much enthused by the capacity crowds and cyclonic applause that have greeted the amazingly versatile performance being presented by him and his boys on the Earle stage. The act transcends any mere orchestral interlude and takes on many of the diverse aspects of a tabloid musical revue.

When I suggested this to the leader of one of the most unique organizations the American theater is able to boast, it struck an immediately responsive chord. It seems that the Californians already are at work on an act with a definite plot that will enlist the services also of at least a small group of feminine artistes. It seems wholly feasible. I recall no other orchestra that has undertaken quite the same thing.

The band, as it stands at the moment, it seems to me, would be an invaluable asset to any big-time producer of revue—Ziegfeld, George White, Earl Carroll, Sam Harris, any of them.

What a wow they would have, if they only knew it!

And there is, after all a dog that is supposed to work with the Californians in the place of the late lamented Lobo. It developed, however, that he needed a little more schooling, so Horace put him back in the kennel, for the time being.

I gather that the newcomer, if not the smartest canine in the world, at least was the strongest. A German shepherd of heroic mould, he took the act apart on one or two occasions, in a thoroughly playful spirit, but still effectually enough to get himself put right back in the box!

He didn't seem to recognize who "Pansy, the Laffing Horse" really was!

Horace said that for a minute it looked as if he'd have to subdue him with a Colt!

$2,300,000,000 GARNER RELIEF PLAN VOTED BY HOUSE, 216-182

sure favorable action on the $2,300,000,000 Garner plan was clapped onto the House by the Democrats 205 to 189 after a bitter struggle. Eight Democrats bolted the party's caucus but twelve Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite swung to the majority support.

A group of mayors headed by Frank Murphy, of Detroit, representing 31 important cities, placed before Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner and party leaders in both houses petitions urging a $5,000,000,000 bond issue for Federal aid. These were read to both branches.

Merit Attack by Mills.

Secretary Mills advocated the President's proposal to expand Reconstruction Finance Corporation capital $1,500,000,000 before the Senate banking committee, and clashed with Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, and others over the merits of the Democrats' proposed public building program, charging that it would be a drain on the Treasury.

Earlier the Senate banking committee approved the $300,000,000 section of the Democratic relief bill for loans to States to prevent destitution, and continued consideration on the President's proposal to set up a system of home-loan discount banks to ease credit on long-term securities.

On the House side the rules committee voted to give the home-loan discount bill preferred status, and Chairman Pou predicted House action before adjournment.

Commodity Gifts Approved.

The Fulmer measure to turn over to the Red Cross an additional 40,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat and 500,000 bales of cotton was approved by the House agriculture committee.

Speaker Garner had the mayors' petition read in the House after he had indorsed at his conference with them the principle of Federal aid to cities and municipalities by loans through the Reconstruction Corporation.

Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, had it read to the Senate. Senator Lewis (Democrat), Illinois, called attention to the resignation of President Charles G. Dawes, of the Finance Corporation in which "he is quoted as saying there is no further need for his services and that prosperity has returned."

Sees Masses Near Desperation.

"I would that such were true," Mr. Lewis said, "but we who are in touch with the masses realize they are on the border of desperation."

Secretary Mills said the way to "get relief is to start the private economic machine turning."

"There is nothing wrong with the United States today except the worst case of nerves in history," he said. "We have got to restore confidence, but when you talk of breaking the depression with $300,000,000 for public works it is like telling a little boy to bring the Washington Monument here."

Led by Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, the administration followers sought to throw the Garner bill open to amendment by fighting the procedure they termed "gag rule" and the measure they called "pork barrel."

The Democrats who bolted their party caucus, which bound them to vote for the procedure and the Garner measure were:

Representatives Howard, Norton, Shallenberger, and Morehead, all of Nebraska; Parsons, Illinois; Cannon, Lozier, and Romjue, of Missouri. Representative Polk (Democrat), Ohio, voted present.

The Republicans who voted with the Democrats were Adkins, Illinois; Amlie, Schneider, Withrow, and Boileau, of Wisconsin; Butler, Oregon; James, Michigan; Pittenger, Minnesota; Sinclair, North Dakota; Swing, California; Taylor, Tennessee, and LaGuardia, New York.

Representative Kvale (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, also voted with the Democrats.

Rhinelander Hits Spotlight Again

Quits Retreat Since Divorce to Press Claim for $6,000 Insurance.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, June 7 (A.P.).—Seven years after the start of a protracted five-year legal engagement in which he obtained a divorce from his octoroon wife Leonard Kip Rhinelander today was involved in new litigation, this time over the payment of an insurance claim.

The action disclosed his hitherto unknown whereabouts since he obtained a divorce in 1929 from Alice Beatrice Jones Rhinelander, daughter of a New Rochelle, N. Y., hack driver.

Rhinelander, scion of an old and socially prominent New York family, whose unsuccessful annulment action and subsequent triumphant divorce brought him wide publicity, appeared in court here to press a claim for $6,000 he alleges was paid to W. A. Mont, of Halifax.

The amount represents insurance covering a bungalow he had erected at Scraggy Lake in 1928 and its furnishings which were destroyed by fire.

Rhinelander said he moved to Nova Scotia to escape the spotlight of publicity, adopting the name of Lou Russell.

Curtis to Summon Lindbergh to Stand

Counsel Wants to Show Boat Builder Received No Compensation.

Flemington, N. J., June 7 (A.P.).—Lloyd Fisher, member of counsel for John Hughes Curtis, said today that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh would be summoned as a defense witness in the trial of the Norfolk (Va.) boat builder, June 27, for obstructing the search for the kidnaped Lindburgh baby.

Fisher said both Col. Lindbergh and Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, State police superintendent, would be called by the defense to show that Curtis did not receive a cent for his activities.

JERSEY CRASH KILLS G. U. STUDENT AND 5

W. A. Rodecker, Mother and Aunt and 3 Persons in Ambulance Victims.

A freshman in the Georgetown University School of Foreign Service and two members of his family were among six persons killed early yesterday when the automobile in which they were returning home following commencement exercises here, was in collision with an ambulance at Collingswood, N. J.

William A. Rodecker, 21 years old; his mother, Mrs. J. A. Rodecker, and his aunt, Mrs. Edward Smith, were en route to their home in Perth Amboy, N. J., after attending graduation exercises at Georgetown University. Young Rodecker was driving the machine.

According to New Jersey police reports, both cars were traveling at a high rate of speed. The ambulance, bearing an injured child, was hurrying to a hospital.

The machines met at an intersection in the heart of the city. Witnesses said the ambulance crashed into the side of the automobile. Rodecker's car was hurled more than 50 feet and caught fire after overturning. The ambulance careened across the intersection and upset against a light pole. The ambulance driver, a policeman, was jammed beneath the wreckage. Other occupants, a second policeman, the child and its father were thrown to the street.

All were killed, with the exception of one policeman. Rodecker and his aunt were pinned beneath the machine and burned beyond recognition. His mother died a short time later in the West Jersey Hospital.

Besides the Rodecker family, others killed were: Richard Bloemaker, 40, of Haddonfield, N. J.; Emma Bloemaker, 9, his daughter, and Policeman John Knorr, of Haddonfield, driver of the ambulance.

Policeman Frank Tucker, who was riding in the ambulance, is in West Jersey Hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries. He is not expected to live.

AL SMITH'S MEN TO BACK SHOUSE FOR CHAIRMANSHIP

eye to practical politics, took a moment when the present New York Governor is harassed, worried and beleaguered both by men of his own party and by Republican reformers, to present their decisions to the public.

In the whirlpool of issues confronting Democratic leadership today, they accepted what was, naturally, the most vital to the Smith campaign—prohibition.

Shouse, supported by Smith, is a wet in theory. Walsh, supported by Roosevelt, is bone dry—even to the extent of his personal conduct. Roosevelt, who has flirted with the drys upon occasion, and who has as yet failed to announce his complete views, had given some indication of his stand, when he and his managers announced their adhesion to Walsh.

The Smith forces naturally had taken considerable heart, in the last 24 hours, because of John D. Rockefeller, jr.'s pronouncement regarding the impossibility of enforcing prohibition, and his adherence to any program for repeal that would lead to temperance.

The Rockefeller announcement, greeted in Smith headquarters as victory for principles which the former New York governor dared to espouse in his last campaign for the Presidency, was regarded as a decided blow to the hopes of Roosevelt's supporters to have an equivocal plank in the national platform.

The lines of battle were further emphasized by contradictory reports issued from the Smith and Roosevelt camps regarding the New York governor's support of Walsh for the convention chairmanship.

Shouse insisted that James A. Farley, Roosevelt's manager, had "broken faith" when he announced his chief's adherence to the Walsh campaign for the chairmanship. To this Robert Jackson, secretary of the Democratic national committee, made the following reply:

"The press accounts convey the impression that Mr. Shouse has in his possession a memorandum dictated to me by Gov. Roosevelt and committing the governor to Mr. Shouse's candidacy. I can not believe that Mr. Shouse deliberately intended to convey that idea. The only document of any kind which I gave Mr. Shouse was a copy of the resolution as adopted and that contained no inference direct or indirect of its approval by Gov. Roosevelt."

Shouse's Work Commended.

Countering Roosevelt's announcement that he would support the extra-dry Senator Walsh, was the statement of Thomas J. Spellacy, spokesman for the Smith forces, who said:

"We have decided to support Mr. Shouse because we feel he has done a great job for the party during the last four years as director of its headquarters in Washington."

He added that Shouse had been the unanimous choice of the Democratic committee on arrangements, which met in Chicago.

The critical situation to which Roosevelt has thus been exposed has been emphasized within the last 48 hours by development of his relations with Tammany and the forces just now engaged in fighting that organization.

It has been no secret that the governor has been annoyed by what he terms the injection of national issues into a State conflict—a conflict not of his own making, but one which may definitely affect his chances for winning the Presidency.

Mrs. Norton Will Second.

This irritation has been manifested in many ways. In an unguarded moment he permitted a "spokesman"—hitherto a luxury afforded only by Presidents—to announce for him his views on the New York situation. The views were not complimentary to Samuel Ssabury, moving power behind the Tammany investigation.

This brought about a deluge of criticism, from which New York newspapers are not yet recovering, and still further emphasized the important part that the city investigation is bound to play in national politics.

Democratic leaders from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island were present at today's luncheon meeting, at which former Gov. Smith was host.

A number of seconding speeches will follow the nomination address of Gov. Ely, but Spellacy announced the name of but one—Mrs. Mary Norton, member of Congress from New Jersey. He declined to say whether a seconding speech would be made by any member of the New York delegation.

Transient Youth Problem Studied

Plans for National Drive for Solution Revealed at Travelers Aid Parley.

The dangers that confront thousands of boys under the age of 21 who, drawn by the urge of wanderlust, are traveling throughout the country by every possible means, was the topic yesterday at a meeting in the Burlington Hotel under auspices of the Washington Travelers Aid Society.

Dr. A. W. McMillen, of the University of Chicago, who has made an extensive study of the problem, told of the hazards met by these boys in their wanderings. It was pointed out that an average of 900 transient youths pass through Washington each month. The majority are on the road to seek adventure, it was said, and make their way by "panhandling."

Mrs. John Jay O'Connor, a member of the board of the National Association of Travelers Aid Societies, told of plans for a Nation-wide radio campaign to find a solution. Recreational and instructive facilities, maintained by each community, would tend to keep the boys at home, Mrs. O'Connor declared.

Doomed Woman's Life Spared by Roosevelt

Ossining, N. Y., June 7 (A.P.).—Ruth Brown, 24-year-old Negro mother, was to be moved today from a death cell as a result of Gov. Roosevelt's action last night in commuting her sentence to life imprisonment.

The woman, who has a son 6 years old, was to have been electrocuted Thursday night for participation in the murder of a Negro man in a Bronx speakeasy last year. Gov. Roosevelt took no action on the death sentence of John Dawson, also a Negro, who was convicted with the woman.

Italian Envoy to London Suffers Attack of Heart

London (Wednesday), June 8 (A.P.).—The Daily Mail said today that Chiaramonte Bordonaro, Italian ambassador to London, suffered a sudden heart attack last night, and was removed to a nursing home in a serious condition.

The doctors were anxious concerning his condition, the newspaper said. He was stricken while dressing for dinner at the hotel where he was staying here. Antonio Chiaramonte Bordonaro has been Italian ambassador in London since 1927. He is 55 years old.

G. O. P. DRYS STUDY RUM PLANK ATTACK

No Conclusions Reached at Secret Parley Called by Borah.

(Associated Press.)

A concerted attack upon the prohibition resubmission plank tentatively agreed upon by Republican leaders was considered yesterday by a group of Senate Republican prohibitionists, but no conclusions were reached.

The band of prohibitionists held their unannounced conference in the office of Senator Borah, of Idaho, who already has opened fire on the resubmission proposal for its omission of a specific substitute for the eighteenth amendment.

Borah presided over the gathering, which assembled so mysteriously that no one knew at first who called it. Borah did.

Eight Attend Meeting.

"We talked over the prohibition situation with respect to the national convention," the Idahoan said. "No conclusions were reached. It was simply an exchange of views on what the party should do. No effort to reach an agreement or conclusion was made."

Eight friends of prohibition attended the meeting. It was said further conferences were planned. Some of those present indicated there was no prospect of unified action by the group at Chicago.

Borah reiterated last night that he had no intention of going to the Chicago convention.

Meanwhile, James R. Garfield, chairman of the resolutions committee, prepared to leave Washington last night for Chicago with the tentative resubmission plank already given approval in principle by the congressional Republican leaders.

Those attending yesterday's conference included Senators Borah, Smoot, of Utah; Robinson, of Indiana; Steiwer, of Oregon; Thomas, of Idaho; Capper, of Kansas; Goldsborough, of Maryland, and Vandenberg, of Michigan.

One Favors Resubmission.

The informal discussion developed that some of those present, including Steiwer, already had declared themselves on prohibition. Steiwer has come out for resubmission, but he is inclined to doubt the wisdom of the national party seeking to bind all members on the issue.

Anyway, it was apparent that some did not feel free to enter movements running contrary to their expressed views.

Garfield continued his conferences during the day with Republican congressional leaders, including Vandenberg. He did not visit President Hoover, who has maintained strict silence on the prohibition dispute facing the party.

The continued presence of Postmaster General Brown in the resubmission parleys, however, has led to general conclusions on the President's stand. Brown is a member of his official family and those who participated in the conferences favoring the resubmission plank are all leaders in the administration cause.

Platform Offered.

Senator Robinson, of Indiana, offered the following platform suggestion to Garfield from the prohibition ranks:

"The purpose of prohibition is to control the liquor traffic and to reduce to a minimum its evil influence on politics, business and the physical and social life of mankind. The eighteenth amendment was written into the Constitution by the will of the people in the way the Constitution prescribes. It can be modified or taken out of the Constitution by similar procedure. But we take the position that any proposal to repeal or modify the eighteenth amendment must be made in accordance with the provisions of Article V of the Constitution and must set out in detail the plan it is proposed to substitute for prohibition so that the people may know exactly what it is for which they are asked to vote and may thus be in a position to judge for themselves whether it offers a better way to handle the liquor problem. In the meantime the eighteenth amendment remains the law of the land and the Republican party pledges itself and its nominees to its observance and enforcement."

'Ideal Prohibition Plank' Is Presented by Tydings

(Associated Press.)

An "ideal prohibition plank" was read to the Senate yesterday by Senator Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, an antiprohibitionist, with the remark that it is designed "to be read at the national conventions, to be accompanied on the pipe organ with 'Hearts and Flowers.'"

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), of Texas, a prohibitionist, returned that "the hearts would be broken hearts of those who have suffered from the liquor traffic and the flowers would be those sent to the dead who have died from its ravages."

Tydings' "ideal plank" expressed "love" for all the dry group, the repeal group and the modification group, and concluded:

"Therefore, we invite all to support this plank because it is filled with love and kindness and is fair to all shades of opinion."

The Marylander placed in the Record the statement of John D. Rockefeller, jr., declaring for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"Does that mean that now Mr. Rockefeller has changed his views on prohibition, Mr. Hoover is going to change his, too?" asked Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana.

"I wouldn't be surprised," Tydings replied.

Wilbur Is Upheld In Interest Suit

Held Not in Contempt by Ruling on Action of Chemical Firm.

Justice Jesse C. Adkins yesterday ruled that Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur had fully complied with a previous order of the District Supreme Court in the case of the Chestatee Pyrites & Chemical Corporation, of Atlanta, Ga., and was not wilfully defying that order.

The Atlanta company had sought and obtained an order directing the Secretary to appear in court and show cause for not being adjudged in contempt for his failure to abide by the previous ruling.

The chemical company sued for interest allegedly due it under the war minerals act, and the Interior Department held that the interest date ran to March 2, 1919. The company contended that the interest date ran several years beyond that date and it brought suit for the remaining interest. The case has an important angle because two score suits are pending with the interest date as a vital element. The payments will run into millions.

ROOSEVELT PRAISES ROCKEFELLER VIEWS

Governor Says Former Dry's Wet Statement Should Hasten Repeal.

Albany, N. Y., June 7 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight praised John D. Rockefeller, jr., for urging repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The governor, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, and a wet, said:

"I am very glad to read the statement by John D. Rockefeller, jr. It will be of real help in getting action at the next session of Congress, so that in every State there can be a vote on the eighteenth amendment."

The governor as far back as September, 1930, in a letter to Senator Robert F. Wagner, explained he favored "abrogation" of the prohibition amendment and the substitution of State's rights. He has never gone into full detail as to how he would accomplish the substitution.

In the light of tonight's statement he favors quick action on the question. This is expected to oe the course he will suggest if named to lead the Democratic party in the coming national campaign.

The governor's statement came shortly after he had returned to the executive mansion from the Port of Albany ceremonies. He explained he had withheld his comment on the statement by Mr. Rockefeller because he had not had time to read all of it until this evening.

His opposition to the eighteenth amendment is based in part, at least, on the same grounds as Mr. Rockefeller's—the belief that it does not prohibit, does not make for temperance.

Although an announced wet, Mr. Roosevelt helped to block attempts last year for a wet declaration by the Democratic national committee. The opposition to such a declaration was on the grounds that the national committee had no authority to speak for the party, and also on the belief that economic questions were more important from a campaign viewpoint than prohibition.

Synagogue to Mark Feast of Shavuoth

Services Will Be Held at Adas Israel Friday and Saturday.

The Adas Israel Synagogue, Sixth and I streets northwest, will have morning and evening services on both days of "Shavuoth," the feast of weeks, which will be observed by Jews in all parts of the world Friday and Saturday. The festival commemorates the pilgrimage of the ancient Hebrews to the temple in Jerusalem with an offering of the first fruit and grain of the early harvest.

Rabbi Solomon H. Metz will address the congregation during the morning service of the first day of the holiday on "Legislating the Law of Life." Saturday morning will be observed as "George Washington Sabbath" by all the congregations affiliated with the United Synagogue of America. The memorial service will begin at 10 a. m.

In the "Shavuoth" festival, the Jew perennially gives thanks to God through the offering of the first fruits of the harvest and in a renewed allegiance to the scriptures and the law.

WET GROUPS UNITE IN REPEAL COUNCIL

Meet in New York to Plan Obtaining Support of Rockefellers.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—A coordinated fight for prohibition repeal was outlined today when representatives of antiprohibition organizations claiming 2,500,000 members banded together in the "united repeal council."

Support for their efforts to obtain incorporation of repeal planks in the platform of both major political parties will be sought, they indicated, from Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, jr.

While the council made no official announcement regarding an invitation to the Rockefellers, Capt. William H. Stayton, of Baltimore, founder of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said if it "does not vote to invite him in I will myself." Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, head of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, responded that "I certainly shall ask Mrs. Rockefeller."

Chicago Meeting Planned.

Members of the council, which in addition to the organizations represented by Mrs. Sabin and Stayton include the Republican citizens' committee, the voluntary committee of lawyers and the Crusaders, will attend a mass meeting in Chicago on June 13, the day before the opening of the Republican national convention.

Pierre S. du Pont, of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, was elected chairman and Mrs. Sabin vice chairman.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman for the Allied Forces for Prohibition, in a statement today, said John D. Rockefeller, jr., "has been seriously misled," in arriving at the conclusion the eighteenth amendment should be repealed.

Dr. Poling declared prohibition could not be done away with unless some substitute took its place.

Rockefeller Called "Naive."

"Nature abhors the vacuum," he said, "and in government anarchy would fill it."

He characterized Rockefeller's assertion that repeal should not be coupled with an alternative measure because it would be difficult to agree upon one in advance, as "naive."

"Other information upon which he bases his statement that drinking generally has increased," he continued, "that the speakeasy has replaced the saloon in the figures he indorses, and his implication that prohibition is primarily responsible for lawbreakers, are a further indication that, however fine his purpose, he has been seriously misled."

Saying that John D. Rockefeller, jr.'s pronouncement in behalf of repeal was a "pleasant surprise," Ambassador Walter E. Edge debarked from the liner Paris with his family today. The ambassador plans to remain in the United States until after the Republican convention, returning to Paris in July.

Strawn Predicts Wet Plank.

Chicago, June 7 (A.P.).—Silas H. Strawn, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said today he felt certain that the Republican national convention will adopt a platform providing for resubmission of the prohibition question to the voters.

Strawn, a friend of President Hoover and an active Republican, said he believed the statement by John D. Rockefeller, jr., favoring repeal of the eighteenth amendment would "stimulate organized opposition to the persistently intolerant drys."

Strawn said he believed the political conventions this year would have a stimulating effect on business, "particularly if both parties adopt platforms calling for resubmission of the prohibition question."

Antisaloon League Protests.

The Antisaloon League of New York, through its board of directors, today issued a formal statement charging Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, with "hypocrisy" as regards his prohibition views. No allusion to John D. Rockefeller, jr., was made.

Merchants to Plan Booster Outing

Committee in Charge Urges Early Reservations; Will Meet Tomorrow.

Final plans for the twenty-second annual booster outing of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association will be made at a meeting of the booster committee tomorrow at the office of the association, Dr. Gibbs, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday. He said all who have not yet made reservations will have to do so at once to be sure of accommodations.

Several innovations are being planned by James E. Colliflower, chairman of the entertainment committee, among which will be a golf tournament at the Hampton Golf Club and swimming contest at the Hotel Chamberlin salt-water swimming pool. More time will be devoted to cruising this year, including a trip to the Virginia capes.

Bert Olmsted has been appointed chairman of the commissary and Charles Frame chairman of the itinerary committee.

The trip will start Saturday, June 18, instead of Friday as heretofore. It is being curtailed a day this year to permit those merchants to go who otherwise could not leave their places of business.

Philadelphia, June 7 (A.P.).—Dr. William W. Keen, famous surgeon, died tonight at the age of 95.

Evanston, Ill., Decides Against New Postoffice

Evanston, Ill., June 7 (A.P.).—Evanston, as represented by its city council and mayor, Charles H. Bartlett, does not wish to have a new postoffice costing $600,000.

The council, under the urging of Mayor Bartlett, last night unanimously passed a resolution opposing the proposal before Congress for a $5,000,000,000 bond issue for building postoffices, including one for Evanston. The mayor said the city's rented postoffice building was good enough.

Sewing Machine Firm Receivership Is Asked

Wilmington, Del., June 7 (A.P.).—Morris B. Levy, of Yonkers, N. Y., today filed a receivership suit in Chancery Court against the White Sewing Machine Corporation, which has offices in New York. Insolvency was alleged in the bill.

Levy, who owns a $1,000 6 per cent, ten-year sinking fund gold debenture bond of the corporation, alleges the concern, which has 125 branches throughout the country, has defaulted in payment of interest on debenture bonds.

Duty to U. S. Told To Young Bankers

Convention Hears Fate of Country Rests in Their Hands.

Los Angeles, June 7 (A.P.).—Representatives of 40,000 young bankers of America were told today that the financial and economic future of the country is in their hands.

Fred N. Shephard, executive manager of the American Bankers Association, parent organization of the American Institute of Banking, told the 1,500 delegates attending the thirtieth annual convention of the institute:

"More than 40,000 of our young bankers, both men and women, are enrolled in the classes of the American Institute of Banking. In their education and training lies the hope of the country. The financial and economic future of America is in their hands.

"You who are assembled here today represent that great body of young bankers who will bring order out of chaos and restore the confidence of our people."

Frank N. Hall, of St. Louis, probably will succeed Henry J. Mergler, of Cincinnati, as president.

PERCY CROSBY, the creator of "Skippy," has issued another book, of a serious nature, called "Patriotism" (Putnam). It consists of a dialogue between a Patriot and a Pacifist, and it is written with conviction, from a full heart, by a citizen who wishes above all things for his country to awaken to a sense of its high destiny. Mr. Crosby is not afraid to speak the truth that is in him; and he gives us, in addition to his sensible text, three stinging cartoons in his best vein. This would be a good book to pass on to certain frightened Senators and Congressmen.

EXIT BROOKHART.

Iowa Republicans have disposed of Smith W. Brookhart, who has misrepresented the State in the United States Senate. He has been beaten for renomination by Henry Field, a modest business man whose speeches during the primary campaign indicate that he is a man with a sense of responsibility. As Field has received well over 35 per cent of the vote, the State convention will have no power to review the action of the primary. Brookhart is definitely shelved.

Rarely has a State been so grotesquely misrepresented as Brookhart has misrepresented Iowa. His declarations in behalf of the farmer have been so ignorant and extravagant that Iowa has been in danger of becoming a national laughing-stock. Senator Brookhart was never satisfied with mere radicalism. He espoused all the isms of the Republican insurgents and then out-Heroded Herod by frantic appeals to prejudice and ignorance. He introduced bills calling for the squandering of billions of dollars in fantastic "relief" plans. At one time he fancied that Andrew W. Mellon was the head devil of all the farmers' woes. At other times he pictured Wall Street as the monster. Whatever his party considered wise he attacked, and yet he professed to be a Republican.

It is noteworthy that the Senate insurgents suffer a decided rebuff in the defeat of Senator Brookhart. Senators La Follette and Borah, especially, have cause for chagrin. La Follette stumped Iowa in behalf of Brookhart, in face of the fact that Wisconsin regulars recently beat La Follette and named a Hoover delegation to the national convention. Evidently the Republicans of Iowa have as little use for La Follette as for Brookhart. Senator Borah did not spare the time to canvass Iowa for his great bucolic colleague, but he sent a message stating in effect that he did not know what would become of agriculture if Brookhart should be defeated.

Another radical who went to Iowa to save Brookhart is Representative LaGuardia, of New York. Unfortunately his record went before him, and spoiled everything he said. Iowa Republicans seem to resent the constant and unblushing effrontery of so-called Republicans who have tried to sabotage the program of President Hoover. The defeat of Brookhart is essentially a victory for President Hoover in his native State. It is also reassuring evidence that exploitation of the farmer for political profit is a played-out game. The farmers of Iowa have shown that they have confidence in the President and are standing behind him in his measures for economic relief.

THE OIL TARIFF FIASCO.

Sponsors of the oil tariff are rejoicing over their apparent victory in Congress, but even the fruits of victory sometimes turn out to be sour. When the oil lobby has finished celebrating it might well scrutinize the new revenue act in which the long-sought duty on petroleum and its products is contained. Hidden among technical phrases is a paragraph that makes the oil tariff subject to the "drawback". In this instance that provision is well named. It will probably draw back all the protection which politicians have been promising the independent oil producers as a result of the petroleum duties.

In the tariff act of 1930 the following provision may be found:

> Upon the exportation of articles manufactured or produced in the United States with the use of imported merchandise, the full amount of the duty paid upon the merchandise so used shall be refunded as drawback, less 1 per centum of such duties.

A Senate amendment applied that provision to the duties interpolated into the revenue act. Consequently, the large oil importers will be able to bring petroleum into the United States, manufacture it into gasoline, lubricating oil and other products, and ship those manufactures abroad again. When the finished articles move out of American ports the refining companies will be able to draw back virtually all of the duty formerly paid to the Government.

Most of the petroleum imported into the United States is owned by large American producers in Venezuela and other Latin-American countries. It is shipped to refineries on the Atlantic coast and the Gulf of Mexico. These large concerns are able to manufacture foreign crude into finished products and ship it out again without the slightest inconvenience. But even if they should sell their foreign crude to other refineries and exporters, they would be able to collect the drawback when the finished products were shipped abroad.

This provision is of unusual importance in the case of petroleum because the United States is the world's foremost oil-exporting nation. In 1931 imports of crude oil amounted to only 47,249,000 barrels. During the same year this country exported 91,029,000 barrels of advanced and refined oils, in addition to a large volume of crude. If all of the imports were used to supply the export demand for finished petroleum products, a large volume of American oil would continue to move abroad.

In these circumstances it appears that the oil tariff will be of no value to the independent producers who forced its adoption in Congress. Oil can be imported as usual because the drawback matches the duty, leaving no element of protection to the independent producers. Now that the tax bill is signed by the President this most controversial tariff item looms up as a mere farce, in which politicians from the oil-producing States have cast themselves in the role of quack saviors.

ROCKEFELLER FOR REPEAL.

John D. Rockefeller, jr., joins the ranks of those drys who are now convinced that conditions under the eighteenth amendment are worse than they were before the amendment was adopted. He is therefore for repeal, without waiting for general agreement upon a substitute. He thinks that unification of public sentiment upon an alternative to the eighteenth amendment would greatly delay repeal, on account of the difficulty of making any one method fit the entire Nation. Mr. Rockefeller believes that sufficient time should be given before repeal to permit the States to set up "adequate and proper control of the traffic in the interest of temperance, and at the same time safeguard the normal liberty of action of the individual."

The sincerity of Mr. Rockefeller is beyond challenge. He supported the eighteenth amendment and expected that it would be supported by public opinion, and that thus society would be relieved of the curse of alcoholism. He is now reluctantly convinced that evils have sprung up which are worse than those which brought about abolition of the saloon, and that unless these evils are checked they will lead to conditions "unspeakably worse than those which prevailed before."

This clear-cut statement carries weight because of the high character behind it; but unfortunately it does not give the average citizen any program which he can adopt with the certainty that the Nation has at last found a solution of the liquor problem. If the eighteenth amendment was a blunder, as many drys now believe, they should make sure that another blunder is not committed. Blunders, when committed by the whole body of States, are too costly and too hard to remedy. Adoption of a constitutional amendment followed by its repeal, without any substitute, indicts the national intelligence. What the average man desires is a solution of the liquor problem, and not merely repeated jumping from the frying-pan into the fire.

If this question could be studied dispassionately it is reasonable to assume that a liquor control system could be devised which would apply equitably throughout the United States, keep liquor profits from outlaws, conserve the public revenue, and suppress open saloons. Apparently, however, the question can not be considered dispassionately. No other question, excepting a religious controversy, stirs up such immediate fury when it is agitated, and with the outburst of passion all chance of working out a generally acceptable solution disappears.

As matters stand, repeal of the eighteenth amendment is a long way off, even allowing for a rapid growth of sentiment in favor of repeal. Nullification, through modification of the Volstead act, appears in the offing. A wet Congress can make the eighteenth amendment practically a dead letter, while repeal can not be effected without the concurrence of thirty-six States. The statesmanlike course to pursue, of course, is to work out a national system acceptable to the country and have it ready as a substitute to the eighteenth amendment. With such a substitute available, repeal would not be so long in coming.

RUSSIAN CREDIT.

The strenuous efforts of Soviet Russia to complete its five-year plan before the end of that period next spring is causing increased demand for many supplies from abroad. At the same time, due to the maturing foreign obligations, low metal coverage and the declining value of exports, revised estimates are being placed on Russia's credit risk. Unfilled Soviet orders in England are esitmated at $20,000,000, while Germany has declined several millions in steel orders recently.

The British Parliament fostered an export credit plan, guaranteeing Soviet credits for British goods to the extent of 75 per cent of their value, but the guaranty does not offer sufficient protection to induce British merchants to extend further credit to the Soviet. About $50,000,000 in Soviet bills are outstanding in England. Their long terms and Soviet origin cause many banks to decline to discount them, claiming that failure of the manufacturer to observe conditions of insurance would invalidate the paper even with the British guaranty.

It is impossible for British bankers to forget that the old private claims against Russia and repudiated war debts amount to more than $6,000,000,000. Since the start of the five-year plan Russia's foreign debt has more than doubled. There is little gold left in the country and foreign debts are increasing so much more rapidly than the value of exports that a natural decline in credit rating has resulted. Germany holds considerably more than 1,000,000,000 marks of Soviet short-term paper, which is considered prejudicial to German finance. The practice of guaranteeing Soviet credit up to 70 per cent was suspended when the total passed 1,000,000,000 marks.

Russia's foreign purchases last year in Europe and America, two-thirds being from Germany, amounted to about $300,000,000. Import needs for this year are extensive. Deficient railroad equipment is delaying many industrial developments; more than 1,000 locomotives and 50,000 freight cars are wanted. Russia would spend billions abroad for water and air transport equipment, machinery and supplies for industrial plants if she could get it on credit.

While there has been no default as yet on recent Soviet bills, European creditors are becoming more and more cautious about extending their holdings of Russian paper. As these holdings are short-term paper more than half of them must be liquidated each year and European bankers have become apprehensive that Russian exports may fall below the debts incurred for imports and that new Soviet notes would have to be written. It is evident that Russia, with all her scoffing at the plight of the capitalistic world, is facing today many of the same economic and financial problems that confront her neighbors, in addition to many that are peculiar to Soviet sophistry.

CONFIRM DR. BROSSARD.

Secret hearings on the nomination of Dr. Edgar B. Brossard, who was appointed to succeed himself as a member of the Tariff Commission, began yesterday before the Senate finance committee. Due to the urgency of the tax bill the committee has been unable to act on this nomination for several weeks. Now that the measure is out of the way, it is to be hoped that Dr. Brossard's nomination will be reported back to the Senate without delay.

There is a disposition on the part of a few senators to crucify the Tariff Commission on every opportunity. For the most part they unloose their spleen upon members of the commission who come up for confirmation. In view of the excellent work of the commission during the last two years, there is not the slightest excuse for these tactics. Since its reorganization the commission has become one of the hardest working and most efficient agencies in the Government. Virtually all of its decisions on rate changes have been unanimous, even though it is composed of three Republicans and three Democrats whose views upon the principle of tariff protection differ radically.

In spite of that excellent record, in which Dr. Brossard shares with other members of the commission, a few insurgents in the Senate are trying to delay his confirmation. Once before the insurgents attempted to defeat Commissioner Brossard because he would not kowtow to their views, but he received a comfortable majority when his nomination came to a vote. The insurgents know very well that they can not muster any strength against him now, but they like to indulge in petty mudslinging against the commission or its members at every opportunity. These political fulminations should not be allowed to interfere with speedy confirmation of Dr. Brossard.

In view of J. Ham Lewis' pointed directions to bonus-grabbing veterans, Charley Dawes had better clutch on to his "Hell and Maria" crown.

Senator Smoot says, "I am an optimist." What a wonderful example of genius triumphing over environment!

HIGH-SPEED CARS

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

There are no passenger automobiles made today that do not have a maximum speed of at least 60 miles an hour. It is one of the proudest achievements of car makers. They stress it in their advertising. But that does not mean that they are ignorant of the fact that two-thirds of the States of the Union still have specified maximum speed limits of 45 miles an hour or less. The argument of the manufacturers is that the car buyer is given an automobile that will make from 60 to 80 miles an hour so that he will have one that will cruise at speeds of 45 to 55 miles an hour smoothly, silently, comfortably and safely.

The producers of automobiles wish the average man had a little sounder engineering education. Were this true, it is felt that he would then understand that there is a positive relationship between various aspects of the performance of any machine.

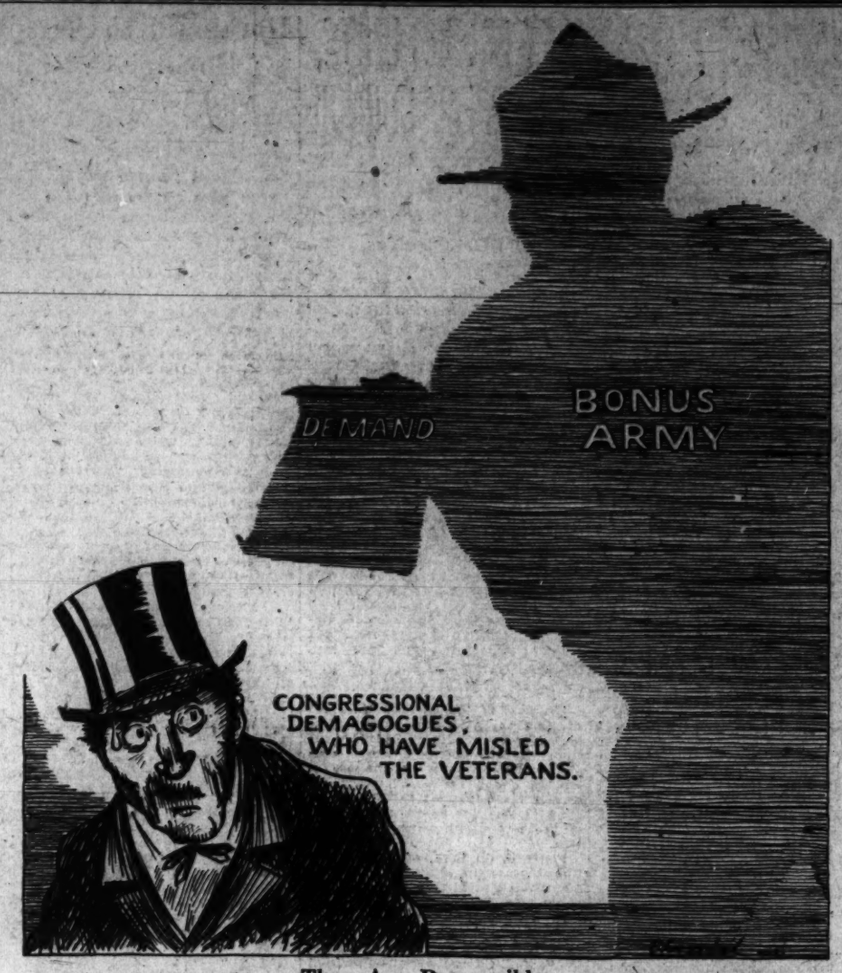
The airplane manufacturer has been wiser than the motor car maker in emphasizing this fact. The plane maker always advertises two speed characteristics of his product. They are the cruising speed and the high speed. The former, on the average, is about three-fourths of the latter. And there is no doubt on the part of the airplane buyer which is the more important speed characteristic. It is the cruising speed. Motor car makers have to dip back only a decade into history to dig up indisputable evidence of the importance of a high maximum speed in their cars. Ten years ago the average maximum speed of small cars was somewhere between 40 and 45 miles an hour. It did not take much use and just a little typically bad maintenance to reduce this to 35 to 38 miles an hour. Only the largest cars were capable of 60 miles an hour, and not all of these would reach it. The price the motorist paid was that his average highway speed was 28 miles an hour. This was the natural cruising speed of the automobiles of the time.

The average motorist now cruises along the open highway at an average top speed of 45 miles an hour. It is no feat of skill for the average motorist to cover 35 miles distance in 60 minutes and 38 is not unusual.

The number of car owners who actually ever have seen their car's maximum speed is negligible, in the opinion of motor company officials. One of the country's leading motor vehicle officials tells the writer that he has heard only one motorist ever make the claim to have actually driven at a speed of 80 miles an hour. In these days when the motor vehicle speed record is 253.96 miles an hour, 80 miles an hour does not seem fast. Few, however, have the temerity to try it under the conditions which confront the average operator. But 65 holds no terrors for many operators—too many, those qualified to speak on the subject maintain.

Indirectly, however, every automobile driver is making constant use of his car's maximum speed. Were it lower, his acceleration under ordinary conditions would be lower. He would not be able to spurt from 10 to 30 miles an hour in traffic in an average time of around five seconds using second gear. He would not be able to climb hills with no loss of speed at a rate of 40 miles an hour or higher.

Nor, especially, would he be able to cruise in safety, comfort and silence at 45 miles an hour on the open road.



They Are Responsible.

POST HASTE.

Anyhow, if the Republicans find they need advice or a campaign manager, Gen. Dawes will be right there in Chicago.

The idea of a referendum on Mr. Shouse was irresistible after a Roosevelt majority was in sight.

And ye century-old two-thirds rule is debilitated by the prospect of what a modern 51 per cent may do to its betters.

Young John D. thinks prohibition has been a failure, and he doesn't drink any of the stuff, either.

The proposed Republican resubmission plank suits everybody—just as we agree on religion and eating onions.

Most actions have a reasonable explanation, and then there are senators who vote against the only tax bill possible because they don't like parts of it.

There are not lacking a few chuckles from the other score of Latin-American republics that Chile, with its aristocratic "pretensiones," should be the one to go Communist.

In sending him out to the Iowa campaign Senator Brookhart must have overlooked the fact that LaGuardia's forte is defeating things.

California had an earthquake Monday, but always remember the San Francisco disaster was caused by fire.

With another election coming in July no wonder Germany has learned to count the votes quickly. We would hardly be through with the returns of the last two.

American investments in Chile are estimated to have a paper value of a billion dollars. Davila's plans will soon show this to be a tissue of falsehood.

Two British statesmen have gone to Ireland to try to relieve the cross-channel tension—as though soft soap would appeal to Erin.

Chancellor von Papen will go to Lausanne to assure the world Germany can not pay reparations, but convincing France is something else again.

A curious thing about the latest Chilean revolution is that some of the students who helped install the now deposed Montero are still for him.

Chile is the kind of a "republic" in which dictators, presidents and juntas hold power by and with the consent of the army.

This is the season when the most convincing advertising argument for cigarettes, soap and locomotives is a girl in a bathing suit.

THE PRINCE SPEAKS SIX LANGUAGES.

The Prince of Wales, says the Manchester Guardian, is the best linguist of the royal family. Eighteen months ago the prince knew scarcely any Spanish, but after acquiring a thorough groundwork in the tongue by regular daily studies with Dr. Antonio Pastor, professor of Spanish at London University, he took every opportunity of practicing while on his tour of South America, with the result that today he not only can deliver a formal public speech in correct Spanish, but can carry on intimate personal conversations with ease and fluency. Besides Spanish, the prince's other foreign languages are French, Italian, German and Danish. Frequently at York House, when receiving an official visitor from abroad, or some embassy representative, the prince will delight and surprise him by speaking in his own tongue.

The Longer a Patient Man Holds His Wrath, the More Bones He Will Break.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WE Americans seem to be a docile people, as a celebrated Englishman once charged, but our docility is more apparent than real.

As individuals we are combative enough. And if the whole people is slow to act, it is because a democracy must wait for a leader who can unite and harness majority opinion.

Our chief fault as crusaders is inertia. We can not be moved by reason alone. A great enthusiasm is required to stir us—a kind of emotional jag—and then the energy developed to get us started gives us so much momentum that we go too far before we stop.

You know that is true, for you have seen evidence of it many times.

We look on helplessly year after year while the railroads increase in power and arrogance and evil; and when at last we lose patience, our zeal for reform goes too far and handicaps a vital industry.

We endure saloons until they become an abomination that smells to heaven, and then our tardy passion for decency carries us so far that the public conscience is left behind.

We go trust busting when patience with evil is exhausted and pass laws that hinder legitimate business.

We wait too long to enter a world war, and then being drunk with patriotism, mortgage our future to pay the bills of our allies.

Always we wait too long and then go to far.

Do you realize what that means now?

Again we are waiting too long. While bankrupt Europe's jobless are fed without charity, America's unemployed millions ask alms of private purses that are slowly closing against them.

In New York City alone, 35,000 children get most of their food at public schools—much of it contributed by underpaid teachers.

Jobless men are growing desperate, and the genteel poor, last bulwark of conservatism, are losing faith in Government.

Americans will endure much. But the well-fed and the powerful are waiting too long.

If sanity doesn't mend matters, unreasoning passion will.

And when hungry cows get into the garden, they trample more than they eat.

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

No-Account Knowledge.
Burlington Free Press.

Mrs. Jessie Wilson Sayre, daughter of the late Woodrow Wilson, says the United States Constitution is 120 years out of date and should be revised. We have heard people talk the same way about the Lord's prayer, the moral code and the music of the masters like Beethoven and Schubert, but we have not heard of anybody making any modern improvements which were at all comparable to the originals. One trouble with the present generation is that we think we know so much more than our fathers. We do know a lot of superficial things, but there is some question whether we know more about life than they did.

Leadership Minus.
Buffalo News.

Another obstacle to good government is the kind of leadership in thought which would rather be independent than right.

Roosevelt's Opportunity.
New York Times.

People have been saying, not only in this city and State, but all over the country, that Mr. Roosevelt would be sadly hampered in his presidential candidacy if he were called upon to remove Mayor Walker from office. But his present attitude looks very much as if he would welcome the opportunity to do his duty in that matter. Far from being afraid of Tammany, he may be disposed boldly to pluck it by the beard in the interest of honest and proper government of this city. Whether that would help him or hinder him in the Democratic national convention has been widely and variously debated. But it certainly could only help him with the people of New York.

Gen. Pershing blames present conditions on "a lot of cheap politicians." The trouble, however, is more aptly described as due to costly politicians and costly politics.

Wagner Brand of Pork.
New York Herald Tribune.

The Wagner "pork barrel" is not so large as the Garner "pork barrel," but it is not less vicious in principle and only slightly less dangerous in its effects. For once half a billion dollars' worth of postoffices and harbors are thus handed out, the demand for more will be irresistible. This provision of the Wagner bill should be stricken out.

Just how ridiculous this vast appropriation would be as "relief" the detailed criticism of Secretary Mills makes clear. Only 33,000 jobs would be furnished by the $120,000,000 of building projects, only 18,150 jobs by the $45,500,000 proposed for rivers and harbors. The idea of taking care of the needy unemployed by any such wasteful method is preposterous. Of course, it would never have got anywhere; it would not now be the subject of serious consideration by Congress except for the "handout" to the States, especially the small ones, that it involves.

Talk about Nero fiddling while Rome burned! In this country we have about 120,000,000 fiddlers, all working on different tunes, with Congress and our legislative bodies alternately waving the baton.

Raskob's Reason.
Topeka Capital.

Chairman Raskob, who sold 40,000 shares of stock in his company, denies that he did so to affect the market, something, he says, which he has never done. Mr. Raskob is an attractive as well as an honest man and no doubt did precisely what he says—he sold his stock to establish a loss for income tax purposes. This is one of the uses of Wall street.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Florida Boom Provides Example of Public Works of Nonproductive Type.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Referring to your editorial, "Relief and Politics," it might interest you to know that this same plan of spending money for local improvements without due regard to returning income was tried out at St. Petersburg, Fla., a few years ago. A city of only 30,000 in summer and 50,000 in winter, as a result of its building spree, has 285 miles of hard-surfaced streets, lined with improvements in spots, but more extensively by weed-filled lots, the weeds growing 6 to 8 feet tall.

The city's budget has not been balanced. In fact, the city can not pay interest on its bonds. According to late figures, overdue bond interest amounts to $876,082. A similar building spree started in Miami City and extended 80 miles along the ocean front to Palm Beach. Many deserted houses are now to be seen along this driveway. Do we want to repeat these experiments on a national scale? I think not.

How Hard Is Washington Water? Housewife Is in Doubt.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Let me say that I think Washington is the most beautiful and most comfortable city I have ever lived in. I'm a booster for Washington, but why do people say Washington has soft water?

Where we came from, the water is admittedly hard, and most people who can do so have water softeners installed. But here no one seems to know what a water softener is. My neighbors say, "Washington water is soft."

I'd really like to know: How hard is Washington water?

Mr. Morse Praises Hoosier Judge for Sending Muncie Mayor to Prison.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: An Associated Press dispatch states that the mayor of Muncie, Ind., has been fined $1,000 and sent to prison for 18 months for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws. The judge who administered this punishment evidently does not care what office a man may hold—if he violates the law he is a criminal and should be treated as such. If other law-enforcement officers had the abdominal investiture of this Hoosier magistrate, there would be less bootlegging and more respect for law.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: After the bonus guests have departed will your influential paper invite the farmers, the Communists, the A. F. L.'s and the I. W. W.'s and all who desire class legislation to come down and have a whack at Mr. Mills' strong box, so that we, the unorganized, but large majority, can tell whether there will be enough money in the till left to make it worth while to continue these United States or to close shop.

Pardon me, Mr. Garner!, I entirely overlooked the pork barrel.

POSTPONE JOB HUNTING.

At Harvard this spring, according to the Forum and Century, 58 per cent of the graduating class plan, instead of hunting jobs, to continue study. In a more normal year, 1926, only 48 per cent entered professional schools or took specializing training after graduation.

Correspondence with other colleges indicates that their graduate schools will be crowded next autumn by young people seeking to postphone the evil year of job-hunting.

For students whose family budgets can stand the strain we recommend travel; not just a summer holiday abroad, but one year, yes, two years of foreign lands, exploring the minds and strange conduct of the very different peoples who make our planet so much unlike.

Two of the most enlightened races in Europe, the British and the Scandinavians, long ago found that travel is the best post-graduate university. Famous leaders in those advanced countries have been trained, not by summers, but by winters abroad.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE GAIN.

When life was bright and cheerful he went singing on his way.
He scarcely knew his neighbors or what sort of folks were they.
But he woke one dismal morning to find all his money gone,
And he found that fame and fortune were not safe to lean upon.

The other day I met him, and he said:
"It's very queer,
But the fact is I am happier than I've been for many a year.
I've discovered friendly people living
just across the street;
I've discovered books and blossoms and the grass beneath my feet.

"Since the bank account has dwindled
I've discovered at my door
A variety of blessings which I'd never known before.
I've discovered chess and checkers are not games which children play,
But are glorious entertainment when at home you choose to stay.

"Oh, we're richer now in spirit than we ever thought we'd be,
There's a bond of true devotion binding
all the family.
We have gained in faith and wisdom and in fellowship with flowers,
And whatever loss may follow, these shall evermore be ours."

BROOKHART IS FAR BEHIND IOWA FOE

Henry Field, Dry, Likely to Oppose Wet Democrat in Senate Election.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 7 (A.P.).—A new twist to Iowa senatorial campaigns was indicated today with the defeat of United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart in Monday's Republican primary by Henry Field, of Shenandoah, seed dealer and radio station operator.

With 2,293 of the State's 2,435 precincts reporting, Field was about 46,000 ballots ahead of the veteran Senate foe of "big business and Wall street." The vote was, Field, 183,765, and Brookhart, 137,386, with the other four candidates trailing far behind the two leaders.

Field, dry and indorsed by organizations supporting prohibition, apparently was to be opposed in the November election by Louis Murphy, of Dubuque, Democrat, whose preprimary campaign centered around the slogan, "I am wet." Murphy's total vote on returns from 1,898 precincts was 47,385, against 26,583 for former Senator Dan F. Steck, of Ottumwa. The other three candidates received but slight support in the Democratic senatorial primary.

Dry Law Looms as an Issue.

A senatorial campaign based on prohibition and without Brookhart's verbal assaults on "big business" would be a distinct novelty for Iowa.

Though Field's lead steadily increased, Brookhart late today refused to concede defeat. The seed dealer's total was, however, well above the 35 per cent of the total Republican senatorial vote cast, indicating his nomination was certain without any action by the party's State convention.

The close race between Representative Gilbert N. Haugen, dean of the national House, and C. A. Benson for the Republican nomination in the Fourth Congressional District was apparently won by the coauthor of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. Benson's managers unofficially conceded him victory on the basis of his 23,328 votes to Benson's 22,758. Benson also opposed the veteran representative two years ago.

Incumbents Widen Leads.

Incumbents had widened their leads in five other congressional districts and apparently were assured of renomination. They were Representative W. F. Kopp, C. C. Dowell, Charles E. Swanson and Fred C. Gilchrist, all Republicans, and B. M. Jacobsen, Democrat.

In the Fifth District, where redistricting placed two Republican representatives together, Representative Lloyd Thurston had a lead of about 7,000 votes over Representative C. W. Ramseyer. Representative T. J. B. Robinson had a margin of about 4,000 votes over William Galloway in the Third, while Representative Ed Campbell, Republican, was unopposed in the Ninth.

Gov. Dan Turner stretched his landslide vote for renomination on the Republican ticket to 223,311, while Otto Lange, of Dubuque, his nearest rival, had 34,285 votes in the 2,020 precincts reporting. In the Democratic gubernatorial field Clyde Herring, of Des Moines, had a firmer hold on first place with 36,036 votes compared with the 28,574 of L. E. Roddewig.

Heart Attack Fatal To Mrs. A. C. Case

Was Wife of Vice President of Palais Royal Department Store.

Stricken with a heart attack, Mrs. Priscilla Kent Case, wife of A. C. Case, vice president and general manager of the Palais Royal department store, died Monday afternoon at her home, 2 Hesketh street, Chevy Chase, Md.

Mrs. Case had been in poor health for several months, but she had recovered to such an extent that she was able to accompany her husband on the Board of Trade cruise over the Memorial Day week-end.

Mrs. Case was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., January 6, 1878, and came to Washington 34 years ago. She was active in Episcopal Church circles in Washington, and was an active member of the Delphian Literary Society, the Woman's City Club and the Order of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence. Burial will be at Pittsburgh.

He is survived by two sisters, living in Washington, Mrs. I. B. Manheim and Miss Marie E. Barwick, of 1513 Twentieth street northwest. They left for Sumter last night to attend the funeral.

Field Says Chicken Stew Helped Him Beat Brookhart

Free Meals Brought Him Many of Friends Who Piled Up Majority Over Foe in Senate Race; His 11 Children Principal Interest.

Shenandoah, Iowa, June 7 (A.P.).—It was just a case of the Field chicken stew against the "Brookhart bologna" in Iowa's Republican senatorial contest, according to Henry Field, victor in the race.

Field, 61-year-old proprietor of the "Friendly Farmer Radio Station" and a seed business capitalized at half a million dollars, has been successful as a neighbor, in business, and now in his first candidacy for public office, apparently in politics as well.

Field attributes it all to his penchant for friends. As soon as he heard he was defeating Senator Smith W. Brookhart for the nomination, he called his friends and thanked them not only for their help but for their friendship.

Making friends and keeping them has been one of his great interests, he declared—this and the upbuilding of his business and radio station and his children, of whom he has eleven.

The chicken stews which he credits with a part in his victory were provided at the field place for friends from far and near. "Bologna" was his term for the campaign statements of his opponent which flayed Wall street and big business as foes of the Iowa farmers.

A native Iowan—he was born on a farm near here—he is intensely proud of his State. His slogan is "I'm from Iowa and proud of it." He married when he was 21 and settled on a small truck farm near here.

Significant of his attitude are such facts as these: He gives $50 to every baby born to any of his employes; he invited his opponents to speak from his radio station; he prefers the old-time music which his station offers on its programs daily, and more people visit his station each year than attend the Iowa State Fair.

DR. ARIAS ELECTED PANAMA PRESIDENT

Former Minister to U. S. Had "Log Cabin" Start; Led Coup d'Etat.

Panama City, June 7 (A.P.).—A man whose early hardships recall the lives of American "log cabin Presidents" became president-elect of Panama today.

He is Harmodio Arias, and he gained the threshold of the nation's highest office when his opponent, Francisco Arias Paredes, conceded his election in last Sunday's balloting. Curiously enough, Arias gained in a regular election the office he had virtually taken by force a little more than a year ago.

At that time he sponsored the coup d'etat of the young "Accion Commal," which overthrew President F. H. Arosemena. Defeated and powerless, Arosemena agreed to accept the resignation of his premier, Daniel Ballon, and appoint Dr. Arias in his stead.

Dr. Arias Assumed Power.

Subsequently the president resigned and Dr. Arias assumed provisional executive power pending the arrival of the first designate president, Dr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, the Panaman Minister to Washington. All this was done to legalize the coup d'etat.

Dr. Alfaro was duly inaugurated and Dr. Arias became Minister to Washington, a post he resigned last November to enter the election campaign.

Hollywood, Fla., June 7 (A.P.).—Gen. Alberto Herrera, Cuban army chief of staff, and officers and cadets of the Cuban army landed from two of that nation's gunboats here today to give a touch of foreign splendor to the annual encampment of Florida Veterans of the Spanish American War. Gen. Herrera came as the personal representative of President Machado of Cuba. Both are veterans of the war.

Dr. Carlos Finlay Arrested.

Havana, Cuba, June 7 (A.P.).—Dr. Carlos Eduardo Finlay, son of the late Dr. Carlos J. Finlay, Cuban scientiest noted for his research into the cause of yellow fever, was among six persons arrested today on a charge of sending bombs through the mail.

(Associated Press.)

The Paraguayan delegation said yesterday Paraguay was ready to continue discussion of a nonaggression pact upon the basis outlined in a tentative draft given both delegations recently by Chairman White, of the neutrals.

The delegation would not say which points would be favored and which had been rejected by the government, but only that instructions had come from Asuncion to continue the conversations with the Bolivian delegates.

Rites for Kin of Rubio.

Mexico City, June 7 (A.P.).—Memorial services were held today in the Sacred Heart Cathedral for Emilio Cortes Rubio, a relative of President Ortiz Rubio, and Manuel Garcia Gomez, who were killed a year ago in an encounter with deputy sheriffs at Ardmore, Okla.

The two Mexican youths were returning from school at Atchison, Kans., when they were fatally shot. Several hundred relatives and friends attended the services.

Second Big Bond Issue Set.

Buenos Aires, June 7 (U.P.).—Issuance of the second of the series of five 100,000,000-peso ($25,000,000) "patriotic loan" bond issues was authorized by the amortization board today. The bonds will be marketed at 10 per cent below their face value.

TEACHERS PAY ACT AMENDMENT URGED

District Heads Send Bill to Congress; Carries $10,000 Appropriation.

The District Commissioners yesterday forwarded to Congress with their approval a bill to amend the teachers' salary act by giving a legislative status to Wilson and Miner Teachers Colleges, and by raising the standard of District trade and vocational schools to the level of junior high schools.

Declaring that the director of the budget had found that the bill is not in conflict with the President's financial program, the Commissioners indorsed the measure as drafted by the Board of Education, and urged its speedy enactment.

The immediate additional cost of the provision to the District government, if enacted, would be about $10,000. Of this, $8,080 would go to the teachers' colleges for the salaries of two chief librarians and one clerk. An additional $1,500 would be needed for the vocational schools to cover increases in salaries of about $300 for each of five principals.

Te Commissioners point out that in the near future ten assistant supervisors and one clerk, entailing additional salaries of about $3,680, would be needed for the colleges, whereas "in the course of time, it is estimated that perhaps 80 per cent of the 64 teachers in vocational work would qualify for higher salaries provided in the bill, involving in each case an actual increase of $100, a total of $5,200 for teachers, or $6,700 for the years immediately ahead."

70 U. S. Workers To Get Year Off

Employes in Office of Quartermaster General to Be Furloughed.

Approximately 70 civilian employes in the office of the Quartermaster General yesterday were notified that they are to be furloughed for a period of one year beginning July 1.

Provision for the furloughing of employes for an indefinite period by department heads is made in the economy bill now being considered in the Senate. Members of the Senate yesterday agreed to this provision of the bill.

Housing, engineering, mechanical and sanitary experts throughout the country and in Washington are affected.

The telegram contained 22,205 words, including 7,770 signatures. The voluminous message filled 142 pages. It said the signatures were obtained in one day.

Dr. Cobb, a world authority on parasitic worms and nematodes, and for the last 21 years an official in the Biological Division of the Department of Agriculture, was a native of Spencer, Mass. He was educated at Worcester Polytechnic Institute and the University of Jena, Germany, where he obtained his Ph. D. At the time of his death Dr. Cobb was a resident of Falls Church, Va. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Vatra Procter Cobb, and six children.

REYNOLDS PROMISED RUN-OFF VOTE HELP

Morrison's Conqueror Told He Will Be Backed by Two He Beat.

Charlotte, N. C., June 7 (A.P.).—Robert R. Reynolds, wet candidate, announced from his home in Asheville late today he had been pledged the support of two other candidates eliminated in the first primary for his run-off contest July 2 against Senator Cameron Morrison, long-time dry, for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Reynolds said former Judge T. C. Bowie, of West Jefferson, and Frank D. Grist, who polled a total of more than 66,000 votes, had assured him they would back his candidacy.

Nearly complete returns from Saturday's voting showed the 46-year-old Asheville lawyer was leading Morrison, a veteran of Democratic politics, by more than 11,400 ballots in the heaviest vote ever recorded in traditionally dry North Carolina. It was the first election in this State in 25 years in which prohibition was an issue.

With 16 precincts missing from 1,823, the vote stood:

Reynolds, 150,049.
Morrison, 138,605.
Bowie, 37,680.
Grist, State commissioner of labor, 28,550.
Arthur Simmons, Burlington poultry man, 3,875.

Greensboro, N. C., June 7 (A.P.).—Norman A. Boren, of this city, second high man to William B. Umstead, of Durham, for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the new Sixth District, announced tonight that he had decided not to ask for a second primary, thus leaving the nomination to Umstead. There were seven candidates in the contest.

POLICEMAN CLEARED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Constable Accused of Attacking News Photographers Restored to Post.

Two complaints against Prince Georges County policemen were received yesterday by the commissioners, who ordered an investigation of one charge and sustained the officer in the other case. A third officer whose resignation was accepted several months ago, after charges had been filed against him, was restored as constable at yesterday's meeting.

Philip Love, a Montgomery County farmer, appeared in person to protest against his arrest by Policeman Ralph Brown, but the commissioners held that Brown had sufficient reason to make the arrest. Love said that Brown put handcuffs on him after his arrest for having dirty and obscured tags. Brown stated that Love got back into his own truck and prepared to drive it after the arrest. Brown also said that he later released Love without placing charges when the man's friends pleaded for him.

A letter from R. E. Federline, of 1475 Park road, was received, accusing some unnamed policeman of searching his car near Bladensburg, and stating that there was no cause for the search. James Heal, clerk to the commissioners, was ordered to investigate and learn what policeman had made the search. Howard E. Slater, dropped as constable after he was accused of slugging a newspaper photographer, was restored to active status by the commissioners.

Turner L. Funkhouser, of Mount Rainier, and Dwight B. Galt, of Hyattsville, were reappointed to the board of zoning appeals, their terms having expired.

SENATE CUTS 48 MILLION FROM ECONOMY MEASURE

Federal workers had vainly employed against the pay cut. Senator Bratton, a member of the economy committee, was one of the most insistent adherents of a Government salary slash.

The following provisions vitally affecting Federal personnel were approved yesterday:

1. Heads of departments would be given authority to furlough workers, in addition to the pay cut, where this was necessary to keep within appropriations. Economy committee members argued this would obviate dismissals that would otherwise prove necessary under drastic appropriation curtailments.

2. Annual leave with pay was permanently reduced to 15 days. Liberalizing amendments were adopted. One would provide for unused leave being carried over from one year to another. A second would exempt services not now allowing sick leave from the 15-day limitation. Foreign service employes abroad would not have their leave restricted.

3. No automatic pay increases, promotions, or filling of vacancies without executive order, may be made in the next fiscal year.

4. Additional pay for overtime work, for night work, or for work on Sundays and holidays was abolished. Stipulation was made that substitutes be used for overtime work wherever possible.

Travel Limit $5 Per Day.

5. Civil service preference would be given to individuals other than married persons in making appointments where husband or wife already are employed in the Federal service.

6. Retirement deductions from pay authorized by law will be based on the salary received prior to the application of the 10 per cent pay cut.

7. A travel allowance limit of $5 a day was fixed for Federal employes traveling on official business. Mileage allowances of senators and representatives was reduced 25 per cent. The Senate voted to strike a clause prohibiting transportation of automobiles of employes on officil business at Government expense.

8. No retired military officer holding a civil Government position may draw more than $3,000 annually in retirement pay and salary combined. This was amended to permit officers to earn from both retirement pay and civilian employment as much as he formerly made as an officer on active duty.

Reorganization Power.

Broad power to reorganize the Federal Government, with the same 60-day congressional veto provision inserted by the House, was voted the President. Savings under this provision are indeterminate.

The President would have authority to consolidate and transfer bureaus to prevent overlappings, submitting his recommendations to Congress. They would become law after lying before Congress for 60 days. The President was authorized to proceed with consolidating the following governmental activities without this restriction: Public health, personnel administration, education and Mexican Water and Boundary Commission, and activities of the War and Navy Departments relating to purchase of supplies.

The Senate refused to approve the House provision for an administration of public works, consolidating public construction projects, but authorized consolidation of the Bureau of Navigation with the Steamboat Inspection Service, transfer of the Personnel Classification Board to the Civil Service Commission, transfer of the radio division of the Department of Commerce to the Federal Radio Commission, and abolition of the International Water Commission.

Shipping Board Changes.

Another provision provided for departmental transfers of funds up to 12 per cent of an appropriation, and still another for interchange of work between departments in the interest of economy. The President was authorized to disband the Philippine Scouts at any time, or reduce its personnel. Reorganization of the Shipping Board, reducing the number of commissioners to three, and cutting their salaries to $10,000, was authorized. Gradual curtailment of vocational education funds, $750,000 in the first year, was approved. Like the House, the Senate voted to strike $750,000 in appropriations for a heating plant in West Potomac Park.

Despite unanimous agreement to meet until 10 o'clock last night to finish the bill, Appropriations Chairman Jones at 5:40 announced that for "reasons he could not make public" it would be impossible to complete the measure last evening.

Chairman Jones was hard pressed yesterday by Senator Millard H. Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, for a total estimate of congressional savings, both from the economy bill and various appropriations measures. Senator Jones said he was unable to give an estimate, but would have one prepared.

Furlough Substitution Fight.

Senator La Follette yesterday opened the fight for substitution of the compulsory furlough plan for the 10 per cent pay cut. He was supported by Senator George H. Moses (Republican), New Hampshire, Senate sponsor of the furlough proposal, Senators Bratton, McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee; Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, and Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, all members of the economy committee, took the floor against it.

Preliminary to rejecting the furlough plan, the Senate voted down an amendment by Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, providing an additional pay cut ranging from 1 per cent on pay between $3,000 and $4,000 to 8 per cent on salaries over $10,000.

An amendment to the 10 per cent plan, fixing a $3 a day exemption for part-time per diem workers, was ordered to lie overnight on the table.

President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, last night came out for substituting the President's compulsory furlough plan for the 10 per cent cuts. In a letter to members of the Senate, he declared reduction of Government wages "economically unsound," but compulsory furloughs as "the lesser of two evils," preferable to flat pay cuts.

"It is my opinion that the five-day work week furlough plan for Government employes, surrounded with such safeguards as labor's friends in Congress might be able to impose, would be more preferable and advantageous to Federal employes and to labor generally than a horizontal reduction in salaries and wages," he wrote.

City Accountants Discuss Finances

Municipal Economy Subject at Annual Session; Meet Today.

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, yesterday welcomed the International Association of Comptrollers and Accounting Officers to Washington for their twenty-seventh annual convention at the Raleigh Hotel.

The organization, composed of municipal finance and accounting officers, discussed municipal economy through accounting and statistics. C. E. Armstrong, city comptroller of Birmingham, Ala., told the delegates the present financial situation had necessitated wage cuts of municipal employes.

Frank J. Flanagan, president of the association and financial expert of Chicago; George D. Begole, vice president of the group and Mayor of Denver; G. A. Moe and David Lawrence, publisher, addressed the group. Sessions will start at 9:30 a. m. today.

BID AND ASK PRICES CITED IN BANK TRIAL

State Wins Point Against Coblentz on Values of Unlisted Bonds.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., June 7.—The State scored today in the trial of Emory L. Coblentz, president of Central Trust Co., Frederick, charged with accepting a deposit when he knew the bank was insolvent, by securing the admission to testimony of certain financial publications offered in the testimony of Thomas Ray Gaither, of W. W. Lanahan & Co., Baltimore, investment brokers.

Gaither testified to the value of unlisted securities by showing bid and asked prices in various market reports that circulate among bond houses. The witness said the bid price was accepted as the value and the defense objected, unless the State could show actual transactions where particular bonds were sold. The three judges, sitting in the case as a jury, retired to chambers for consultation and Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan announced the objection was overruled.

Reports were submitted to show bid and ask quotations on securities, both listed and unlisted, which are held as assets by the Central Trust Co. and the Central Securities Co., its subsidiary, against properties in Washington.

George R. Linkins, Washington realtor, recalled by the State, gave appraisals of the various properties in Washington as of 1928 and 1929. These were properties, apartment houses, hotels, or apartment house sites, on which the allied or subsidiary investment companies of the Central Trust Co. held second and third mortgages or trust notes. Last week Mr. Linkins testified as to the values of the various properties, as of 1931, when the notes were purchased as investments.

BROOKHART'S DEFEAT MAKES ISSUE OF GIVING JOBS TO KIN

cratic primary in North Carolina, still has a chance to pull through in a run-off election between himself and his chief rival, Robert R. Reynolds.

But Mr. Brookhart is definitely whipped, his principal opponent, Henry Field, a seed merchant, having apparently obtained between 40 and 45 per cent of the total vote. Had no candidate received as much as 35 per cent of the vote, the contest would have gone to a State convention.

Mr. Brookhart's liberal friends in Congress made a valiant attempt to save him. Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, sent out a statement, praising Mr. Brookhart as the outstanding agriculture expert in Congress, and adding that his defeat would be a calamity. Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, took the stump for him, and so, too, did Representative Fiorella LaGuardia, of New York.

The regular Republican organization in Iowa, which has long sought Mr. Brookhart's scalp, "ganged" him in the primary, trotting out four candidates to oppose him.

Among the arguments used against Mr. Brookhart, in addition to that involving nepotism, was that, while he did a lot of talking, most of it of a radical nature, he failed to produce any constructive legislation to help Iowa.

His almost fanatical prohibition stand, it is said, also hurt him. True, his chief rival, Mr. Field, likewise is a dry, but, according to Iowans here, he was less obnoxious to the wets than was Mr. Brookhart, who a few years ago told the Senate how a group of "Wall Streeters" tried to inveigle him into a "booze party" in the Willard Hotel. Later he went before a grand jury here and told the same story.

Boiled down, the answer to Mr. Brookhart's defeat simply is that Iowa had tired of him and all that he stood for.

In the case of "Cam" Morrison, the issue was more clear-cut. Mr. Morrison is an extreme dry, and in a State like North Carolina such a stand would seem to be the wise one.

Reynolds Takes Wet Stand.

However, R. R. (Bob) Reynolds, an Asheville attorney, had the audacity to take a bold wet stand, and in Saturday's primary he led the dry Mr. Morrison by more than 11,000 votes.

In addition to the liquor question, there was one other outstanding issue—Mr. Morrison's support of Frank McNinch for a place on the Federal Power Commission. In 1928, McNinch bolted the Democratic party and became a "Hoovercrat."

In the run-off election between Mr. Morrison and Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Morrison must get the lion's share of the 70,000 votes that were cast for the three other candidates in order to win.

Well, my dear, we shall try to come to your aid with a menu, but before doing so, may we ask have you yet known a man whose weakness was not chocolate ice cream or cake with thick chocolate icing? I think we'll play safe, Mrs. Kaplan, if we plan that for the sweets to be served. THE WEIGHT GUIDE.

For individual assistance, write to Nancy Carey, sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and give age, weight, height and habits of life.

Answers to Readers.

Dear Miss Carey: Will you please print in your column something about minerals, where found, what they do for us and all that? I have heard so much about minerals and would like to know exactly in what foods they are found, especially iron and lime.

Thanking you very much for all your help. MRS. B. BRADLEY.

Since a comparatively large proportion of the human body is composed of mineral elements, Mrs. Bradley, you are quite justified in your request for some information concerning their nature, in what foods they are found, and why they are so necessary. Of the sixteen or seventeen elements which go to make up the cells of our bodies, we shall consider today only those which are most apt to be lacking or inadequate in the average diet. It is not easy to explain just why these elements are so important in carrying on the various functions of the body, but it still remains that without them life would be impossible.

Here is a table which I hope you will find of assistance. Let us hear from you at any time we may be of service.

Sodium: Found in common salt, fruits and vegetables.

Regulates neutrality and heart beat.

Sulphur: Found in meat, fish, eggs, milk, peas, beans.

Necessary constituent of all body cells, hair and nails.

Calcium (Lime): Found in milk, eggs, cheese, nuts and vegetables.

Necessary for bone and teeth formation.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A blue woolen summer coat with interesting scarf effect, and black trimming touches. (Courtesy of the Maison Heim, Paris.)

NEW YORK, June 7.—It has no place in a fashun collum—but I simply must let you read this poem, sent to me by an 8-year-old child! If you think it is as extraordinary as I do—let me know, yes?

FLOWERS.

I saw a little flower
Growing in a tower.
I saw a bunch of flowers here,
I saw a bunch of flowers there—
In fact, I saw a bunch of flowers
All over everywhere!

We have some flowers in our yard,
They always nod their heads.
But at night when the ground is hard,
They act as if they were dead.

I planted a little sunflower;
It grew higher than a tower.
But when I planted another seed,
It grew to be a weed.

• • • •

Sunflowers—remind me of vacation time. Don't you let things happen to your face 'n' form, just this one vacation—that you can never get rid of later! Hair dries out in sun and salt water, and needs oiling just like any automobile; skin needs protection and more thorough cleaning. And hands need gloves all the time—for they alone simply can not stage a successful comeback, once they have been allowed to get brown and scrawny and dried.

• • • •

You don't want to cook or even fix sandwiches without some kind of a wee apron over your dinner frock—even serve er—tea-tales. Isn't that a good name for what one shouldn't mention but every one mostly does?

Well, when you send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's leaflet which tells you how to make the cutest little apron you ever saw from two bandanna handkerchiefs, you will not only have something as picturesque as ever you could imagine, but an apron that completely and artistically covers you, too.

Not to mention that bandanna hankies cost 5 cents apiece—awfully good ones cost 10—and that they wash without running away from themselves.

• • • •

When you say woolen in the same breath with summer—and it happens to be a nice, juicy, hot day—does it give you the jitters? Well, it shouldn't; 'cause woolens nowadays mean lovely, porous, lightweight and even transparent things, which actually shed the heat.

That's the kind of a woolen that makes the Heim coat I sketch for you today—a clear blue color, edged in black, and most interestingly arranged as to scarf. Like heem?

• • • •

Serge—believe it as you wish, is a most popular material for summer hats. And for formal hats as well as informal ones, too. All the hats made of serge are carefully supple, and, of course, very often combined with some kind of straw or other. And, like the woolens I mentioned above—they aren't as hot feeling as one would think.

Au revoir.

WHO WERE THE PSYCHOLOGISTS?

USERS of the so-called "psychic" bids are fond of recounting their successes when lay-down games are not bid by their opponents and the psychic bidder escapes with a light penalty. As I have frequently pointed out, there is a vast difference between psychological bidding and bluff bids which parade under that name. A vivid illustration of what the players called psychic bidding, but which actually demonstrated that their opponents were the true psychologists, occurred in a recent tournament at the Hamilton Whist Club in Philadelphia. Seated North and South were two of Philadelphia's strongest players, both of whom had won a deserved reputation for their forays into the subtle language of making bids to conceal weakness, as well as to reveal strength. Their opponents were Mr. A. R. Jurgenson, who held the West hand, and Dr. I. M. Shelly, East.

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
		Pass	1♣
1♡(1)	Dbl.(2)	1♠(3)	Dbl.(4)
Pass	Pass	Redbl.(5)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—The first so-called "psychic," but actually a very poor bluff bid.
2—Immediately disclosing the opponent's bluff.
3—A psychic upon a psychic, but the law of mathematics still holds: 0 plus 0 equals 0.
4—Disclosing the double-barreled nature of the psychic.
5—Hoping that the East and West hands may not fit so well, but that one of the other will rescue him.

East opened the King of hearts, which was won with Dummy's Ace and a heart returned, which East won with the Queen. East now led a small diamond, which was won by West, who returned the Queen of clubs. This was covered by the declarer, won by East, and three rounds of clubs followed. Dummy's last heart being discarded on the last round of clubs, West winning the trick with the 8 of trumps. West then followed with the Ace of spades and two more rounds of diamonds. He then led the Knave of hearts, which East ruffed with the spade 6, forcing Dummy to win with the 9. There now remained no cards in the Dummy except two trumps, and the unhappy Declarer was forced to lead to the East hand.

The score was recorded as a five-trick set—a penalty, not vulnerable, of 2,000 points.

In view of all the evidence, it would appear to me that East and West, and not North and South, in this instance were the true students of psychology.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The true psychic bids are not bluff bids used by some strong and many average players in an effort to muddle their opponents. The true psychologist at the Bridge table easily punctures these bluff bids and proceeds with his bidding unhampered, or else inflicts a heavy penalty.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Grooming Very Important to Gray Hair Beauty.

GRAY hair needs special care in more ways than one and grooming is probably one of the most important factors in silver beauty. Gray hair positively can not be allowed to straggle and string. Each straggling gray hair accentuates facial lines and wrinkles on middle-aged faces, as well as any tendency to haggardness. Keep gray hair well groomed, even if you find a hair net the only antidote. In fact, hair nets are almost indispensable to gray hair, but they must be of the right texture and color, and properly adjusted. They should be of the finest invisible quality. Don't wear a gray net, but select the lightest shade of the original color of your hair. If it was originally brown or auburn, use the lightest brown or golden shade net. If your hair was originally black, and is now very white, find a net with a faint lavender tinge. Shadows in gray hair are almost always tinged with the original color. Pure white hair, of course, requires the lightest blond or palest lavender net. Never wear the coarse double mesh. Of course, it lasts longer, but you really wouldn't want such effect to last! Learn to put on nets so they are practically invisible. No straight, tight lines and no hairpins showing. Remember that practice makes perfect and I assure you it can be done.

Avoid Too Tight Waves.

A very soft, flattering coiffure is imperative and important to the gray-hair woman more than to any other type. The very narrow, tight waves, particularly on top of the head have a hard influence and also add the look of age that all women try so consistently to avoid. If you have observed silvery glory at its loveliest, the chances are the crown was arranged in soft, deep wide waves or swirls or perhaps a very simple, waveless arrangement at the top of the head and a few wide waves at the sides.

If the hair is bobbed, special attention must be given to the hair ends and the iron used when necessary to keep these troublesome ends in place. Remember, however, not to use a too hot iron on gray hair or yellow streaks may be the consequence.

It is this neat and trim softness that lends the look of dignity to gray hair and flatters the face, toning down wrinkles or sagging and making contours that have lost their youthful firmness less apparent. In Europe women regard gray hair as a mark of beauty and distinction. American women, somehow, look at the first gray hair with dread for to them it spells a sign of age. Once the hair has actually turned an even all-over silver, women become reconciled, I think. From the many women I have met and the many letters that come to my desk constantly, I gather that it is the mixture of gray streaks with the original color that women dislike. Also, once the hair has turned completely snow white or silver, there's the problem of keeping it free from yellow streaks.

My bulletin "Growing Gray Gracefully" will tell you how to "cover up" a few gray hairs when they start making their appearance; also how to keep silver beauty at its best once your hair has completely turned. Rinse dyes, coiffures and clothes colors are all considered in this bulletin and it is yours for a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

What Today Means

By MARY BLAKE

"GEMINI."

IF June 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:40 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:35 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. and from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Astrological portents for June 8: Good for personal affairs, friendship and love affairs. Not a propitious time for important business arrangements or extensive travels. Those who are engaged in new occupations or positions will be passing through a pessimistic period and are advised to grit their teeth and to hang on.

Children born on this June 8 will have intelligent interests, ideas of their own, and will be spontaneous and awake to impressions. Their domestic instincts will be strongly developed, and they will grow into splendid homemakers and keepers. They will have considerable assurance and poise.

Born on June 8, you have an understanding heart, and attract and are attracted to your fellow being. By nature, as well as choice, you are one of the world's servers, and you lose yourself in the needs of others. No matter what your shortcomings may be, you, at any rate, are yourself and genuine through and through. Your tears are not crocodile, your laughter is not forced and your words are not false.

You are an extremely practical person. You call things by their right name and do not turn your head aside when the world wishes to look you squarely in the eye. Your mind is pure, clean and strong. You like the joy of life, but the blatant, make-believe orgy of life you hate. Water does not course through your veins, and you are normally worldly and material, and lead far from a monk or nun-like existence. You are less tempted and less foolish than most people, but you never assume a holier-than-thou attitude, and your criticisms are always constructive, not destructive.

No pronounced talents or ambitions are indicated, and you probably will follow the pathways, which, in the natural course of events, are opened up to you. You can be merry at any work, and fairly efficient in most. You are a very sympathetic and comfortable person with whom to live.

Successful people born on June 8:

Samuel Bowles, journalist.

William M. Meredith, Secretary of Treasury under Taylor.

Mary Reynolds Aldis (Mrs. Arthur T.), founder of "Aldis Playhouse."

Richard Soule, author.

Henry C. Trumbull, editor and author.

Henry R. Shelley, organist.

How to Keep Well

THE SLUGGISH LIVER MYTH.

S. WRITES: Please tell us what will benefit those with sluggish liver.

REPLY.

Sluggish liver is one of those alibi terms invented by persons who want to discuss forbidden subjects and, in order to do so without giving offense, call a spade a garden implement.

Perhaps some day we may know enough about the liver to recognize a condition that can be properly called sluggish liver. As it is, the term is poorly chosen. The liver is located in the abdomen, close to the digestive apparatus, but it has very little to do with digestion and elimination.

Food is digested by the salivary juice, the juices of the stomach and intestines, and that of the pancreas. The juice of the liver, called the bile, has a little to do with digestion, but not much. It stimulates other secretions; it helps with fats; it keeps down bacterial action, and it promotes peristalsis; but these are small items in comparison with the work of the digestive juices.

The great work of the liver has to do with the products of digestion. It takes the mill-run stuff, sorts out the valuable part and works it into shape for the tissues to use. The digestive apparatus converts starch into sugar. The liver takes the sugar and puts it into a form in which it can be stored or properly used according to the need of the moment.

It is a great reservoir into which fat is stored and from which it is drawn. It takes the products of the digestion of proteids and makes them into safe foods convenient for use. It has something to do with the making of blood, but the chief blood factory is the bone marrow; and it has more to do with the salvaging of old blood. The principle that has to do with the prevention of the kind of blood destruction that we call pernicious anemia either is made in the liver or else is made in the stomach and stored in the liver.

The liver is the great factory for secondary fabrication, working the half-finished products of the digestive tract into a condition in which they can be used. This organ is the great protecting agent of the body. It is there to stop poisons, that they may not enter the general blood stream and reach the brain, the heart and other pivotal organs.

Nor has the liver much to do with elimination. The people who use the term sluggish liver are speaking of constipation. Probably the liver has about as much to do with constipation as the kidneys, and no more. It is true the bile has a slightly laxative action and that it promotes peristalsis But most of the bile is reabsorbed before the waste reaches the sigmoid colon. On the other hand, the fluids in the body are thrown off by the skin, lungs, kidneys and bowels. If the kidneys are overactive and too much water is drained out there is a tendency to constipation. If the liver is sluggish, whatever that may mean, it does not follow that constipation will result.

You may be interested in the liver, but I doubt it. You probably are interested in constipation and, assuming you are, that will be tomorrow's theme.

SODA IS TOOTH PASTE.

Miss M. L. V. writes:

1. What value has washing the teeth with baking soda?

2. I eat spaghetti four times a week. Is it harmful to any part of my body? I notice that my left side pains after eating it.

REPLY.

1. It is a good, smooth abrasive, and not all tooth powders are smooth abrasives. Soda solution is a pretty good solvent. Some claim that at times the saliva is not alkaline enough, or even that it is acid in areas, and thus it causes erosions. That is speculative.

2. No. Spaghetti is a starch or carbohydrate food with the usual heat and energy values of that type of foods. However, it is generally prepared with fats and some proteins, such as cheese, meat or eggs. This makes it a better balanced food. The spaghetti-eating nations eat cheese and salads in addition, and this custom tends to balance their diet.

3. I expect you eat too much. Lots of people do that.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

SHADY WINDOW BOXES AND GARDEN URNS.

WHEN planting a window or porch box, your choice of plants must be governed by the situation of the box. Unless it is to be where there is plenty of sun, blooming plants will be a disappointment.

For shady locations you will be compelled to choose foliage plants. As a centerpiece for garden or porch box plants let me suggest a rubber plant or a kentia palm. Any well-arranged circular garden urn must have a centerpiece—that is, a plant which is given a central position and which must be the tallest specimen. One or two pandanuses, especially the variegated varieties, will add to the color scheme.

Then possibly some Scotti or Boston ferns, and one or two dark red or yellow crotons, to lend a note of gayety to the ensemble. Last, but not least, you must have trailers—an urn is never complete without vines. Periwinkles, English ivy and variegated vincas are all beautiful when they have grown so that they fall gracefully over the sides.

When planting a porch or window box it is best to eliminate the centerpiece. Rather set three tall plants in a row in the middle of the box. In a box eight feet in length these plants should be arranged so that one plant is in the middle of the box and the other two about two feet from each end of the box. For these three prominent locations you may choose kentia palms, variegated pandanuses, rubber plants or crotons. About and between these plants set ferns of various varieties and as trailers use English ivy or euonymous radicans variegata. All of these vines are reliable and none of them is expensive.

The plants I have mentioned, and in fact any other plants in this class, are sure to do well the entire season. While it may cost several dollars to fill such a box or urn, it will be a constant source of delight and in the fall every plant can be lifted and taken into the house.

If you consider these suggestions when you plant your boxes this season, I am sure that you will be delighted with the result, not only during the months of June or July, but throughout the entire season.

NATS WIN UPHILL BATTLE FROM CHISOX IN 11TH, 8-5

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

BRIG. GEN. GLASSFORD, superintendent of Washington's police, who is sponsoring the gigantic boxing program at Griffith Stadium tonight for the benefit of the bonus army encamped here, is unwittingly attempting to prove that his superiors, the District Commissioners, knew not whereof they spoke when they vetoed a boxing bill for the Capital last year.

The Commissioners, to whom Congress referred a bill that would permit admission fees for amateur bouts in the District, declared that "there was no public sentiment in favor of boxing in Washington."

Gen. Glassford's show, which is expected to attract more than 5,000 if the weather is no barrier, threatens to prove the Commissioners very much in the wrong.

There is much to be said in favor of the Hartley bill to legalize admission fees for amateur boxing in the District, which was favorably reported by a subcommittee of the House yesterday, but it does seem that the local sports leaders are sacrificing every chance for professional fighting here by their efforts to put through the Hartley measure.

The Hartley bill not only provides for the legalization of amateur boxing, but it is expressly entitled "A Bill to Prevent Professional Prize Fighting and Permit Amateur Boxing in the District of Columbia," thus closing the door to the popular professional fights.

Joe Cronin, a popular baseball figure among Boston's big breath of Old Erin, gave Hub fans a baseball problem last week while speaking over the radio.

Cronin's puzzle was as follows: "How can a triple play be made with no member of the team in the field touching the ball?"

It can be done, as Cronin later explained.

There are runners on first and second with none out. The batter hits a high pop and is out on an infield fly. The runner on first passes the runner on second and is out for this violation. The third out is recorded when the runner on second, the only man not yet retired, is hit by the descending pop fly.

The signing of Louis (Bozey) Berger, University of Maryland infielder, by the Cleveland Indians, is just another case of rival big league managers plucking potential stars from beneath the eyes of the Washington club.

The Nats, with Berger playing baseball in Washington and at College Park for the last eight years, should have had first call on his services if his worth was recognized.

It has been many years since a home-bred performed with the Washington club while other big league teams have signed many former Washington schoolboy and college stars.

Bill Werber, star third baseman at Tech and Maryland, was signed by the Yankees. Jimmy Foxx and Lefty Grove, whose early careers had as their scenes nearby Maryland, were snatched by Baltimore and then the Athletics.

In most of these cases, the Nats would not have to outbid rival clubs if overtures to the local talent were made early enough.

LOSES JUMP RECORD.

The 21-foot 9-inch leap of Frank Kocsis in the "C" Club track meet, hailed as a new record at the time, will not go in the record books, it was learned yesterday. Judges of the event found that Kocsis had accidently fouled while taking off on the long jump.

Corkran Tops Mid-Atlantic Golf Field

Baltimorean's 75 Is Low in First Day of Qualifying.

Stevinson, Nolan and Shorey One Stroke Behind Leader.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

B. WARREN CORKRAN, of the Baltimore Country Club, yesterday led the field of contestants in the opening day of the Middle Atlantic Golf Association championship tournament played on the course of the Columbia Club, with a card of 40—35—75, five strokes over par. The remainder of the field which plays eighteen holes today includes many of the leading players both in this city and Baltimore, with the possibility that 75 will not win the medal.

The course was in a condition conducive of low scoring. Already there are nine players with cards of 79 and under and a play-off at the latter figure in the championship flight is indicated. As 96 players will be allowed to qualify and as only 53 cards were turned in yesterday with the highest total 98, it is certain that qualification will be secured by golfers whose scores may be in the low 90s.

Three Capital Men Stroke Behind.

Corkran's score of 75 led the field by only one stroke, for John C. Shorey, Manor; Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, and M. Parker Nolan, Congressional, were next with 76. Corkran's outgoing nine in 40, due mainly to an unfortunate 6 with which he started his round, was redeemed by an incoming nine in 35, exactly par figures, with an eagle 3 on the twelfth, as follows:

Out ..... 6 4 5 5 5 4 4 4 5—40
In ..... 5 5 3 3 4 4 3 5 4—35—75

Stevinson, out in 38, met his Waterloo on the tenth hole, when his second shot caught the trap on the right, causing him to lose three strokes, so that he holed out in seven. Shorey and Nolan were each out in 37 and back in 39, the former with a six on the twelfth, while Nolan had nothing on his card over five. The nine players who broke 80 were as follows:

B. Warren Corkran, Balt. C. C.	40	35	75
John C. Shorey, Manor	37	39	76
Parker Nolan, Cong.	37	39	76
M. B. Stevinson, Col.	38	38	76
Thos. Bones, Jr., Col.	40	38	78

Harry C. Pitt, Manor	41	37	78
Evert L. Bono, Col.	40	38	78
F. N. Parks, Cong.	40	39	79

One of the features of the tournament is a team match representing the member clubs in the association. Only two of the teams competed their scores yesterday, Columbia's No. 1 team leading with a total of 402 strokes, and Manor following with 411. The personnel of the teams is as follows:

Baltimore Country Club—B. Warren Corkran, Talbott T. Speer, Edgar Lucas, Royal W. Gill, W. P. Hall.

Beaver Dam—Byrn Curtiss, M. F. McCarthy, C. H. Phipps, W. J. Cox, J. C. Johnson.

YoungBritons Set Pace for U. S. Pros

English Trio Lowers Record in British Open Tourney.

Armour, Smith and Sarazen, With 146's, 5 Strokes Behind.

By FRANK H. KING.

SANDWICH, England, June 7 (A.P.).—The younger school of British golf, led by Alfred Bradbeer, Eric McCruvie, and Don Curtis, sent hopes soaring for a native victory in the British Open Golf Championship today by leading the qualifiers at a record-breaking pace.

In the pack of 236 contestants were three leading American professionals—Tommy Armour (defending champion), MacDonald Smith, and Gene Sarazen—and all the important older British professionals who have been unable to stem the postwar tide of American victories.

Bradbeer, youngest of seven golfing brothers from Somerset, won the qualifying medal with two par-cracking rounds of 70, 71—141. The 23-year-old McCruvie, Scottish amateur and Walker Cup star, and the equally youthful Curtis, professional from Bournemouth, broke the record at Prince's by 2 strokes as they blazed away at one of the toughest golfing tests in Britain for 69s.

Hutchison's Record Lowered by Two.

Their cards were 5 under par and broke the old record, set by Jock Hutchison, by 2 strokes.

McCruvie took second place with 75, 69—144, and Curtis had 76, 69—145, for third.

Mac Smith and Armour, the latter punishing Prince's for a 71 to tie the old record, were deadlocked with the British veterans, Reg Whitcombe and Abe Mitchell, for fourth place in the field of 110 golfers who qualified for the championship proper, 72 holes of medal play, starting tomorrow.

Smith turned in two consistent rounds, 73, 73—146, while Armour registered 75, 71—146. Mitchell also had a pair of 73s, and Whitcomb put together rounds of 76 and 70. Sarazen, with a safe-working margin, qualified with 73, 76—149.

Six Americans in all qualified and the same number failed. Walter Pursey, professional from Seattle, Wash., redeemed a mediocre 81 of yesterday with a fine 71 at Royal St. George's, where half of the qualifying rounds were played, for a 36-hole total of 152. The other two Americans qualifying are amateurs living in London, Douglas Grant scoring 152 and Robert Sweeney, who plays on the Oxford golf team, 151.

Those failing to qualify were Gordon Smith, Palm Beach, Fla., professional; Joshua Crane, Brookline, Mass.; Ross Thompson, Uniontown, Pa., and Paul Azbill, Frank Sweeny and Stuart Scheftel, all living in England. Thompson missed by one stroke, the limit being 157, at which twelve were tied.

British Enthusiasm Is Warned.

Too enthusiastic Britons, already counting the title won, were reminded that often times during the last ten years some player has flashed great form in the qualifying rounds only to fade in the tournament proper and let some American go charging through to victory. Mac Smith, playing at his native Carnoustie last year, wasted his two best rounds in winning the medal.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Mel Ott took personal charge of giving the Giants a 4-to-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the opener of their series today. He hit two homers, his eighth and ninth of the season, accounted for three runs with them and won the game by clouting his second with the score tied in the last half of the ninth.

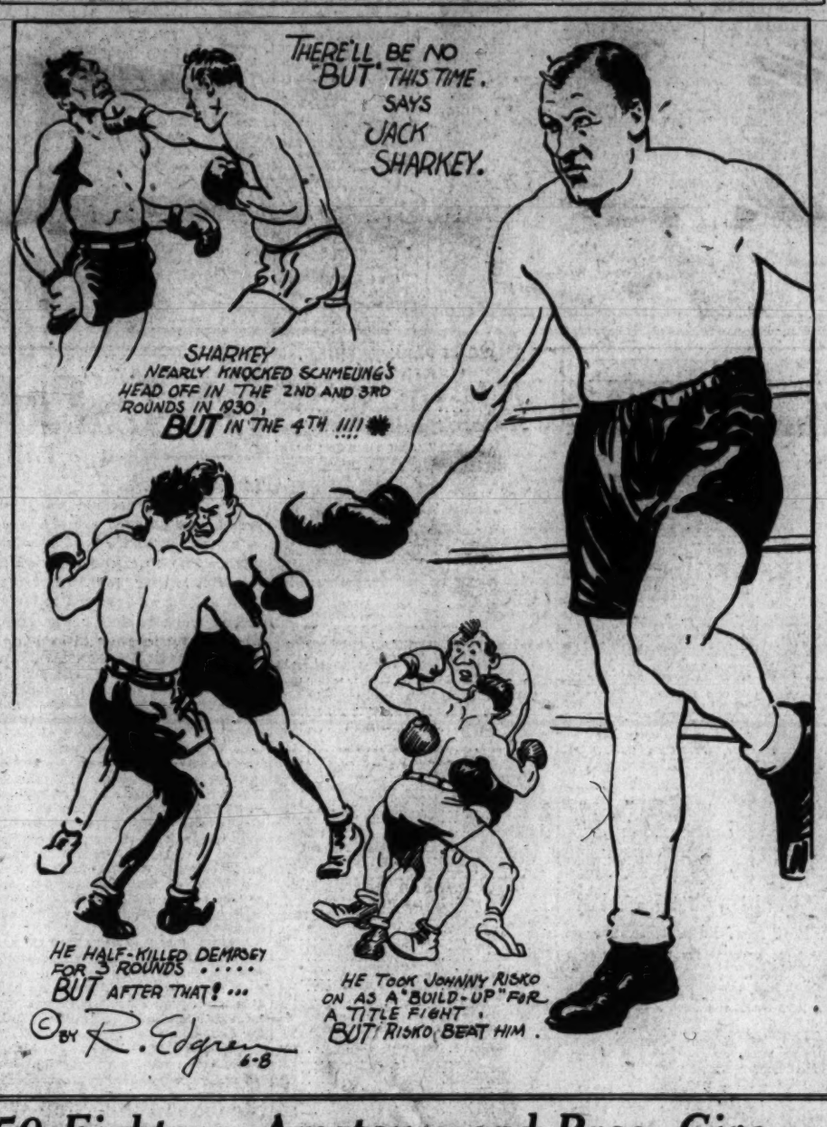
SHARKEY CAN LOOK GOOD—AND BAD —By Edgren



50 Fighters, Amateurs and Pros, Give Services Tonight in Bonus Army Benefit

26-Bout Carnival to Be Staged at Griffith Stadium.

AIMING punches at their opponents' rugged bodies and at the heart-strings of the spectators, more than 50 amateurs and professionals will perform tonight in a boxing extravaganza in Griffith Stadium for the benefit of the needy bonus marchers now encamped in Washington.

Twenty-six bouts, the first of which begins at 8:15 o'clock, are scheduled in this unprecedented affair arranged by Chief of Police Glassford and "Heine" Miller, well-known local sports figure, with the aid of practically all local boxing leaders.

Junior League Girls To Take Collection.

There is no admission charge and the boxers are receiving no remuneration, but the spectators will be asked to contribute to a collection to help defray cost of food and shelter for the visiting army of World War veterans. Junior League girls will make the collections following an explanatory announcement by Jimmy Lake.

The show is divided into two sections, with twelve amateur bouts sanctioned by the A. A. U. constituting the first act, and fourteen professional contests involving local and out-of-town boxers furnishing the second half action. Those in charge have forestalled any waiting between bouts by securing a group of substitute boxers who will stand by for emergency calls. It is estimated that the show will consume about four hours.

In featured spots on the program are contests between a pair of 60-pound boys and a pair of old-timers well past the half-century mark. Joe Petro and Peter Reilly, of the Goodacre A. C., are the fleaweights concerned, while Danny Lewis and Kid Sullivan, who once defeated the great Joe Gans, are the patriarchs.

Reds Barry Faces Tim Charles.

Other participants of prominence are Reds Barry, Washington's leading heavyweight, who will engage Tim Charles, a veteran of 300 bouts; Billy Strickler, promising local light-heavyweight, whose opponent is Billy Schwartz, pride of Alexandria; Benny Schwartz, the greatest bantamweight to appear in this vicinity in many years, who will oppose Eddie Buell, local product; Danny Pyne, Catholic University Olympic hope, who will oppose Jerry Dunn, light-heavyweight, of the American Legion, and Mike Tardugno, another Olympic prospect from the Jewish Community Center, who faces Johnny Ryon, leading featherweight of the American Legion.

All bouts are to be of three two-minute rounds, with one minute of rest between rounds. The Victory Post's Drum and Bugle Corps, led by Commander Burke, will be on hand to help enliven proceedings.

Yankees Win, 9-2, On 6 Tiger Errors

Two Misplays Behind Bridges With Bases Full in 2d Let in 3 Runs.

Detroit, June 7 (A.P.).—The Tigers made more and better errors than the New York Yankees today and handed the league leaders a 9-to-2 victory in the first game of their Western tour.

Detroit players were guilty of six misplays and the Yanks made three and all but one figured in the scoring in one way or another. Charley Gehringer tossed the game away in the second inning when he let Earl Comb's grounder go through his legs while the bases were full and White made it worse when he retrieved the ball and heaved it clear into the Tiger dugout. Three runs came in on these two bobbles and Joe Sewell followed up with a single for a fourth.

Ferrell Ends Jinx To Beat Macks, 4-3

Scores Tenth Win of Year, Despite Two Homers by Al Simmons.

Cleveland, June 7 (A.P.).—Wes Ferrell chalked up his tenth pitching victory of the season today when the Indians overcame the old-time jinx of the Philadelphia Athletics, winning 4 to 3, after the score was tied three times.

Al Simmons was the big noise for the A's, cracking out his eleventh and twelfth home runs of the year. No one was on base either time. Ferrell put the Indians in front in the seventh when he doubled to left and scored on Porter's two-base hit off the screen in right. It was Ferrell's first win over the A's since 1930.

Crowder Holds Chicago After West's Single With 2 Out in 9th Ties Score

Marberry Steadies After Yielding Sox 3 Runs in First Inning, But Is Removed for Pinch-Hitter in Ninth.

Four-Run Rally in 11th Clinches Victory as Western Tour Opens; Caraway, Frazier Pounded for 16 Hits.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, June 7.—For nearly nine innings it looked as though the fates and the White Sox had conspired to down the Nats here this afternoon, but the Washington club knotted the string in the ninth and then won out, 8 to 5, in the eleventh, to keep pace with the leading Yankess and to gain a step on their rivals, the Mackmen and Tigers.

In the Wake Of the Game

Special to The Washington Post.

COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, Ill., June 7.—The veteran Ted Lyons, who lost a heart-breaking fourteen-inning decision in Washington last month, will draw the White Sox pitching assignment in tomorrow's second game of the current set. Manager Walter Johnson has nominated Carl Fischer to oppose him.

With Dave Harris in Greensboro attending the funeral of his sister and Heinie Manush hobbling around on one leg, Manager Johnson had no extra outfielders today. Harris is due here in time for tomorrow's game, while Manush hopes to get back into the line-up in the final series game here Friday.

Myer raced over directly behind second for Kress' grounder ending the fourth, following through with a rifle-like peg for the killing.

When Kerr opened the sixth with a single, it was the fourth successive round in which the Washington leadoff man safetied. Starting the next session, Marberry made it five in a row by getting his first hit of the season.

There was plenty of excitement when the Nats turned in a double play in the home seventh. With Kress on second, Caraway rolled to Marberry, who made a good one-handed stop. Kress was trapped between second and third, Marberry to Bluege to Kerr to Bluege to Myer to Bluege. When Caraway rounded first too far, Bluege whipped the ball to Judge and the pitcher was killed, Judge to Myer to Judge to Myer.

Caraway lost control in the ninth and walked Myer and had two balls called on Rice when he was yanked in favor of Frazier.

Selph stole second while Crowder was holding the ball in the ninth. This caused some shifting of plans. Putting Selph in position to score on a hit, Crowder was told to pass Kress purposely and pitch to Berry.

Kerr, on second in the tenth, helped Bluege get a hit by making a break for third and then hustling back to the middle sack. Selph delayed watching Kerr just long enough to enable Bluege to beat the throw to first.

Inches played a most important part in the fracas. Two of the four safeties garnered by the Chisox in the first inning were hits by but a tiny margin, while West was within an inch of ending the game in the ninth in favor of the Sox.

The Nats were a run behind, at 4 to 3; two were out, Myer was on second and the count was two strikes and no balls on West. The latter let one mighty close pitch go by, and, when he watched another pass him, Catcher Berry made a break for the bench, thinking it was a third strike and that the game was over. Then West singled and the Nats suddenly had staved off defeat for the time being.

Pass to Crowder Opens Eleventh.

They threatened in the tenth and then tallied four times in the second extra frame. Crowder opened the round by coaxing a pass, and Myer's second double of the game propelled him to third. Rice was intentionally walked and Crowder scored on West's liner to Kress. The latter dropped the ball after a jumping try and recovered in time to toss out Myer at third. Reynolds' single scored Rice, both runners moved up on Judge's infield out, and then Reynolds tallied and Judge took third when Catcher Berry pegged carelessly in making a return to the pitcher. On a parting shot, Kerr doubled to left to bring home the fourth run of the frame.

Fred Marberry started on the hill for the Nationals and pitched a much better game than the score would indicate. He granted but seven hits in eight innings, and four, two of them most scratchy, came in the first, and, together with a useful out, netted three runs. One of the other blows was a homer into the stands in left opening the fifth.

Brilliant Fielding Checks Nats.

Neither Pat Caraway nor Vic Frazier was effective and the Nats inserted at least one hit in every inning but the second, getting sixteen altogether. Brilliant fielding on the part of the home fielders helped the flingers pull out of hole after hole and, in fact, gave the Nats a mighty tough job in overtaking their foes.

Myer's opening double, Caraway's error on Rice's tap and West's safe bunt on an attempted squeeze gave the Nats one run in the third and paved the way for the other which came on Judge's single.

Reynolds' opening triple and Judge's useful out, netted another run in the eighth and then the Nats pulled the game out of the fire by knotting the count in the ninth.

Manush hit for Marberry starting this round and rolled out. Myer walked and advanced to second on Rice's out. It was here that West came through.

Crowder Yields Only One Hit.

"General" Al Crowder took up the Washington mound burden in the home ninth and, although he yielded but one hit in the three frames he toiled, he was inclined to be wild. Selph singled and stole and Kress was purposely walked with two dead in the ninth, while it was successive passes doled out to Bluege and Hodapp, first two up in the eleventh, that helped the Sox mould a run. A useful out and a long fly turned the trick.

Four Nats had a field day at bat, Myer, Reynolds, Kerr and Bluege getting three hits each, with all but the last-named having at least one extra baser. Funk, with a double and single, was the only Sox to get more than one safety.

PLUMAGE SCORES BY NOSE IN WASHINGTON PARK SPRINT

9-1 Shot First In Stretch Battle

Princess Camelia and Manta Outrun on Heavy Track.

Microphone, at 6 to 1, Wins Speed Stake at Belmont.

WASHINGTON PARK, Ill., June 7 (A.P.).—A spirited stretch drive over a heavy track gave Plumage, star mudder from the S. S. Combs Stable, a nose decision over Princess Camelia in the feature event at Washington Park today. Plumage moved up in the stretch and responded to a fine ride by Jockey T. P. Martin to win.

Overlooked in the betting, Plumage paid $19.62 and ran the 6 furlongs in 1:16 3-5. Manta finished third.

Economic, winner of the Ohio Derby and runner-up in the Kentucky Derby, arrived at Washington Park today to drill for the $50,000 added American Derby, June 18.

Microphone Repeats At Belmont.

Belmont Park Race Track, June 7 (A.P.).—The speed handicap, a dash of 5½ furlongs down the straightaway, attracted a half-dozen of the fleetest sprinters in training here today, the winner turning up in Microphone, a 6-to-1 shot. The Sage Stable colt completed the distance in 1:03 4-5, showing that the race was very appropriately named. It was the second straight success for the son of Flying Ebony and Johnny Gilbert completed a double astride the winner.

Microphone led C. Leroy King's Panetian home by a length and a half while Halcyon, in C. V. Whitney's silks, was three additional lengths behind in third position. Stagecraft, Flying Heels and the faint-hearted Beasel brought up the rear as named. The winner earned $3,600.

The six speed demons broke well and The Beasel was first to show in front, but the field closed in on the filly and Microphone assumed command before the halfway mark was reached. Panetian made a strong bid through the final quarter-mile as the pair drew away from their rivals, but Microphone easily held his pursuers safe under faultless handling. Halcyon overtook Stagecraft in the last nod.

Cubs Out of Lead As Robins Win, 9-2

Warneke Is Solved for Six Runs in 7th, Idle Braves Advancing to Top.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 7 (A.P.).—A seventh-inning comedy of errors, both of omission and commission, gave the Brooklyn Dodgers six runs off young Lon Warneke today and eventually a 9-to-2 victory over Chicag in the first game f their series.

The defeat cost the Cubs first place in the National League standing to the Boston Braves, who were idle by rain.

Up to the fateful seventh, Warneke had held the Dodgers helpless, allowing only four hits and striking out seven, and held an advantage over Dazzy Vance, who had been nicked for runs in the fourth and fifth frames, one on Gabby Hartnett's long homer.

The Dodgers counted three more at at Jakie May's expense in the eighth, when old Jack Quinn punched a double to the center wall with the bases loaded, the veteran's first hit of the season.

Hack Wilson had a bad day against his old mates, striking out the first three times he faced Warneke and flying feebly to center in the seventh inning.

District Amateur Boxing Bill Wins Favor of House Group

Subcommittee Makes Favorable Report After Local Sports Leaders Testify to Need for Admission Fees.

AMATEUR athletic leaders of Washington yesterday pleaded the cause of amateur boxing in the District, and gained a point when a House District subcommittee, composed of V. L. Palmisano, chairman, Maryland; Frank L. Bowman, Virginia, and Pehr G. Holmes, Massachusetts, reported favorably on the Hartley bill, and submitted the same to the general House District committee.

The Hartley bill, introduced by Representative Fred A. Hartley, jr. (Republican), New Jersey, provides for amateur boxing in the District, carrying a trailer which places a possible five-year prison sentence on those staging or engaging in a professional bout. Thus acted upon by the subcommittee, the bill is now before the main District committee and must pass that body, the Senate and the White House before enactment.

Local Sports Leaders Speak for Bill.

Among the local amateur sports leaders who testified yesterday before the committee were Ed Rosenblum, of the Jewish Community Center, former District A. A. U. boxing chairman; Winfree Johnson, one of the outstanding figures in local amateur sports, and an A. A. U. and Olympic official; Charles Fyfe, sports director of the Boys Club, and A. J. Barrett, of the North Cleveland Park Citizens Association. Bryan Morse, sports editor of the Herald, and Jack Espey, boxing reporter for The Washington Post, also spoke, as did the author of the bill.

The bill, which is known as H. R. 6292, will create a District Boxing Commission, if passed. The commission will be made up of three persons, one of whom must be affiliated with the local Police Department and hold full away over District boxing. The District Commissioners would furnish the commission with office space and clerical assistance.

Popularity of Boxing Here Cited.

The strain upon the treasuries of local clubs supporting amateur boxing was brought out by testimony yesterday. Under the present ruling no admission fee is charged. Testimony showed that more followers of local amateur sports attended fights than any other amateur sports, in contrast to an opinion of the District Commissioners which held that the interest in boxing in the District was negligible.

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., June 7.—Langley Field's crack baseball nine handed the Marines a crushing 14-to-1 defeat here today, behind the expert pitching of Thomas. The bats of the flying men hopped all over the Marine pitching offerings, rapping out fourteen hits, including three home runs.

The loss brought the Marines' record for the season to seven losses and sixteen wins. Langley plays here again tomorrow.

FORT HOLDS FIRST BOUTS ON MONDAY

Godwin-Weiss Meet in Opening Show at Ft. Washington.

OUTDOOR boxing will be resumed after an intermission of eight months at Fort Washington, 19 miles by automobile from this city, on next Monday night, it was announced last night by Matchmaker Frankie Mann.

The inaugural feature will be an eight-round contest between Bob Godwin, Southern light heavyweight champion, and Sammy Weiss, of Philadelphia, Pa., while a semifinal of the same duration has been arranged between Sammy Braunstein, local welterweight champion, and Ray Bowen, also of Washington. The complete card will be announced in a couple of days.

Proceeds Applied to Recreational Work.

As in past years, the Fort Washington Athletic Association will conduct the shows which are to be held every Monday night. The proceeds, minus boxers' purses and operating expenses, will go to the association for recreational work at the post. More than $3,000 was realized last summer from 12 shows.

Both Godwin and Weiss are well known to Capital boxing fans. In a bout last December in Alexandria, Godwin defeated Weiss on points. Godwin has never been defeated in this vicinity, while Weiss has fought two draw bouts with Reds Barry, local heavyweight. The Braunstein-Bowen affair is a return match which will afford Bowen the opportunity of avenging an earlier knockout.

WITH a field of more than 50 in the running—the largest entry list ever to compete in a women's tennis tournament in Washington—the annual Women's District Tennis League championship will open this afternoon on the Reservoir courts with a series of interesting matches on tap.

In the big field are many of the finest players in the city, including, besides the seeded players, Sara Moore, Rene Claudel, Abigail Sard, Betty Cochran, Mrs. Lee D. Butler and Elinor Finckel.

PREP SCHOOL NETMEN IN TOURNEY

High School Supremacy Threatened in Title Play.

DEPRIVED of the highest honor a junior tennis player can achieve in Washington, the winning of the annual District junior championship, the prep schools of Washington will send their finest representatives in years into the 1932 championship, which opens Saturday at Wardman Park Hotel.

While the caliber of local youthful tennis is generally higher as a whole in the prep schools, the public high schools annually since 1923 have produced the junior champion of the city. The dynasty started in 1923, when Gwynn King, of Western, came through. The next year Sawtelle McGinty, of Catholic University, won, but the next two years it was Dooly Mitchell, of Western, followed for three years by Frank Shore, of Central. Last year the tournament fell to Charles Daly, not in school at the time, but now at West Point.

Prepmen Have Edge In Quality.

This year there has been very little comparison between the number of good players in the prep schools and the number in high schools. The preps have it by a large margin, aided by better playing conditions and a better conducted school league. But the high schools boast the most brilliant individual in the tournament—Gilbert Hunt, of Eastern, who looms as a favorite to win.

Georgetown Prep's representation of Cannon, Reese, Leslie, McCaffrey and others is potent. Friends boasts of Boyle, Shotwell, Elkin and several others of note. St. Alban's has a fine player in Henderson, and Landon has one in Martinez. St. John's has Scheele, Breen and the Owens brothers, Gonzaga has its Lao brothers and several others. All of these are fine young tennis players, and promise to make a determined bid to stop the reign of public high champions.

SEEDED PAIR BEATEN AT MEMPHIS

Lejeck, Thalheimer Bow in U. S. Clay Courts Tourney.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 7 (A.P.). Ed Lejeck, of Chicago, and Louis Thalheimer, of Dallas, two of the eight seeded players, were eliminated from the national clay courts tennis tournament today when they encountered unexpected opposition.

Gerin Cameron, Tulsa youngster, dropped Thalheimer, 6—2, 3—6, 6—4, in third round play, and Lejack fell before Arnold Simon, of Louisville, 8—6, 6—4, in a second round engagement.

Simon's Volleying Beats Lejack.

Lejeck, captain of the University of Illinois tennis team, was eliminated in his initial appearance of the meet. Simon's great volleying and overhead play drew applause from the spectators.

The defeat of Jack Mooney, Atlanta, an outstanding Southerner, by 51-year-old P. C. (Pop) Baggs, of New York, national veterans' singles champion, was a big disappointment to Mooney's followers, but the veteran outplayed his young opponent to win, 3—6, 6—2, 6—2.

Six of the seeded players came through without much trouble. Wilbur (Junior) Cohen, of Kansas City, won a third round match from Doc Barr, of Dallas, 6—4, 6—1, after winning in second play from Burtz Boulware, Tampa, 6—0, 6—2.

Robert (Lefty) Bryan, of Chattanooga, won in the third round from Paul Metz, Memphis, 6—2, 7—5, after taking a second round struggle from Billy Ledsinger, Memphis, 7—5, 6—1.

George Lott, of Chicago, tournament favorite, subdued Bob Stewart, Pensacola, 6—2, 6—0; Berkeley Bell, New York, trounced John Metz, Memphis, 7—5, 6—0, and Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, Atlanta, stopped Charlie Spencer, Louisville, 6—0, 6—2.

"Well, there's a new committee just appointed to revive business."

"Who's on it?"

"I don't recall all the names, but I remember Owen D. Young, Umpire Moriarty, Maurice Chevalier, Judge Seabury, Thomas Lamont, Clark Gable and Miss Earhart."

"What's your opinion on the presidential campaign? Do you think the Republicans will renominate Herbert Coolidge for a second term?"

"I think so. In the Democratic party it looks like a close race between Alfred E. Roosevelt, Franklin D. Smith, John Nance McAdoo and Floyd Gibbons."

"What about the Stop Alfalfa Bill Murray movement?"

"Oh, they've stopped him."

"Who stopped him?"

"Bennie Leonard or King Levinsky, I'm not sure which."

NATIONAL CITY BANK CUTS DIVIDEND TO $2

Mack Trucks to Maintain Previous Payments of 25 Cents on Capital Stock.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Directors of the National City Bank today declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, placing the stock on a $2 annual basis compared with $3 previously. The dividend is payable July 1 to stock of record June 11.

The reduction follows the recent cut in the dividend of the Chase National Bank, which placed the stock on a $2 annual basis compared with $3 previously.

Mack Truck.

A dividend of 25 cents a share on the capital stock was declared today by Mack Trucks, Inc. A similar distribution was made in the two previous quarters.

The company issued a statement saying it was the belief of directors that despite the fact that the company is showing no current earnings, the present distribution was warranted by the financial position. The company has a surplus of $16,000,000 accumulated from past earnings, cash and Government bonds of approximately $8,000,000 and net quick assets of about $30,000,000.

The dividend declared today is payable June 30 to stock of record June 15.

American Natural Gas.

A committee to represent holders of the 6½ per cent sinking fund gold debentures of the American Natural Gas Corporation, one of the principal subsidiaries of Tri-Utilities Corporation, was formed today. Ferdinand Eberstadt, of F. Eberstadt & Co., is chairman. Organization of the committee follows formal abandonment of the proposed Tri-Utilities reorganization plan, announced recently.

Union Pacific Outlook.

"Union Pacific's traffic is running on about the same basis as for the last five or six months, but I am hopeful that traffic in the fall months will make a better comparison," said Carl Gray, president of the road, today.

He reported that crop conditions are generally better in Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California. The Kansas wheat outlook has been much improved by recent rains and corn prospects are excellent in Nebraska, he said.

General Printing Ink.

Directors of the General Printing Ink Co. today decided to omit the quarterly dividend on the common stock due at this time. In the previous quarter 25 cents was paid. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the preferred stock was ordered, payable July 1 to stock of record June 20.

Abbott Laboratories Dividend.

Chicago, June 7 (A.P.).—Directors of Abbott Laboratories declared a dividend of 50 cents a share today, payable July 1, to stockholders of record June 16. The $2 annual rate was established in 1929. Extra dividends of 12½ cents a share had been paid quarterly since 1930.

American Dollar Gains First Time in 2 Weeks

Paris, June 7 (A.P.).—For the first time in two weeks the American dollar showed improvement on the foreign exchange market today. The quotation was 25.3275, as against 25.3250, the level at which it had stood since May 25.

The improvement was attributed to the action of the United States Congress in voting the tax bill.

Rockefeller Letter Aids Stock Boost

Echo on Exchange Used to Push Distiller and Kindred Shares.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—The anti-prohibition statement made by John D. Rockefeller, jr., had a thin echo on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Traders, trying for a turn in some shares they believed would be most affected by a change in the law, bid up this specialized group from a few cents to $2 a share, although volume in these issues was moderate.

National Distillers Products, an early favorite, rose $1.37, to $18.25, only to lose all but 12 cents of its advance. Owens Illinois Glass, which makes bottles, jumped about $2, to $18.12, and succeeded in closing near the top. Crown Cap & Seal climbed 50 cents, to $9.87. Corn Products Refining rallied in the morning, but later sagged with the general market and closed $1 lower, at $30 a share.

CURB MARKET SAGS IN SMALL TURNOVER

Moderate Losses Recorded in Active Issues; Oils Drop 1 Point.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—The Curb Market was again inclined to rest from the efforts of last week's rally, and moderate declines were the rule in the more active issues.

The volume of trading slackened further, however, as stock was not pressed for sale in any important volume. The turnover of 100,000 shares was 30,000 under yesterday's.

In the utilities, Commonwealth Edison, a strong feature yesterday, reacted 4¾ points. It was assumed that the selection of James Simpson as chairman meant that provision had been made for the approaching bond maturity.

Utility shares generally were heavy. American Gas & Electric lost 2 points, then recovered partially. Electric Bond & Share lost a fraction. United Light & Power preferred rose about a point.

In the oils, Standard of Indiana ran into further selling, reacting about a point. Gulf and Kentucky were off ½. Some of the coppers also sagged. Newmont, a firm spot recently, lost ¾ of a point, and Hudson Bay appeared at 1⅛, off ¼. United Verde was steady.

Industrials were mixed. Mergenthaler appeared for the second time this year, trading at 21, off 11 points from the previous transaction.

Tubize Chatillon "A" sold at 1, off 1¼. The company announced a price reduction last week.

National Dairy preferred "A" traded at 88, up 6¾.

Investors and traders were interested particularly in the new American Securities Investing Corporation, and the $100,000,000 nest egg which is expected to hatch substantial profits in listed bonds for the bankers' consortium. Just when the corporation will begin its purchasing program, and what it will buy, is a secret. It was rumored that bids had already been made for some over-the-counter issues.

Carrier bonds received the greatest attention in today's transactions. Gains in this group ranged from fractions to 8 points, the latter mark being recorded by Wabash second 5s.

Firmness was shown by loans of American Telephone, Armour & Co., Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, Detroit Edison, Humble Oil, Kansas Gas, North American, Otis Steel, Paramount-Publix and Western Union.

Mr. Stewart, the former head of the Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co., became president of Pan-American Foreign Corporation when the company was formed recently to take over the foreign properties of Pan-American Petroleum & Transport, purchased by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

CAPITAL MAN HEADS AREA'S CREDIT BODY

Edwin C. Graham Is Elected Chairman of Richmond Reserve District Unit.

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., June 7.—Edwin C. Graham, of Washington, president of the National Electrical Supply Co., today was elected chairman of the joint committee of bankers and industrialists established in the Fifth Federal Reserve District to aid in the national credit expansion program.

Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, journeyed from the Capital to attend the organization meeting, held in the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs National Bank, will represent the Washington Clearing House banks on the committee, which will seek to turn into the normal channels of trade and commerce the tremendous bank reserves recently made available through the Federal Reserve Board's open-market operations.

Patterned After New York Group.

The Fifth District committee is patterned generally after the committee set up ten days ago in New York and more recently in Chicago and several other Federal Reserve cities.

By bringing business men and bankers together, the joint committee plan seeks to stimulate the use of new business credits wherever they may be needed for sound enterprises.

Charles A. Cannon, of the Cannon Mills, Kannapolis, N. C., was named vice chairman of the committee, which is made up of six bankers and six industrial managers.

Pending organization of the committee and the perfection of the operating plan, George J. Seavy, governor of the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank, presided today.

Although no details were forthcoming as to the precise nature of the new committee's operations, it was disclosed by some of those in attendance today that a careful canvavass of the banking and credit situation throughout the Fifth District suggested that a great deal of constructive work can be accomplished through closer cooperation between bankers and industry.

All Sections Represented.

The selections for the committee were made with a view to giving representation to every major industry in the Fifth District as well as every important trade locality.

Other committee members include C. E. Michael and Robert P. Beamon, for Virginia; H. M. Victor and Mr. Cannon, for North Carolina; A. L. M. Wiggins and James C. Self, for South Carolina; John M. Crawford and H. B. Lewis, for West Virginia and A. Hamilton Post and Charles M. Cohn, for Maryland.

In announcing the credit expansion policy several weeks ago, President Hoover stated that as soon as all the Federal Reserve Districts had named their committees, the various groups would be invited to Washington for a White House conference, which would seek to coordinate the entire effort into a well unified national program to assist business recovery.

EDWIN C. GRAHAM,
President of the National Electrical Supply Co., who has been named chairman of the committee set up in the Fifth Federal Reserve District to aid in a national credit expansion program.

MONEY MARKETS

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Dollars stiffened noticeably against European gold currencies today, reflecting the continued growth of confidence abroad in Uncle Sam's ability to straighten out his fiscal problems now that the tax bill has become law.

French francs sagged 5-16 of a point net to 3.94 9-16, at which level further gold shipments would hardly be profitable. Dutch guilders dipped 3½ points to 40.52½, or virtually their current outgoing gold mark. Swiss francs and the belga also eased, the latter going under their gold quotation.

Stocks.

The turnover was notably smaller. At the close, about half of last week's gains had been forfeited.

Bonds.

Railway bonds showed some strength, but there were several conflicting exhibitions in the day's trade. The undertone ruled firm and the averages were fractionally higher.

Curb.

Moderate declines were the rule. Commonwealth Edison sold off 4¾ points and Mergenthaler traded at 21, down 11 points from the previous sale.

Wheat.

Continued selling pressure at Liverpool from the Canadian wheat pool interests forecasts something in the nature of a world price war on existing surpluses. Chicago futures closed ⅛ to 1⅛ lower.

Cotton.

The opening advance of 10 points was lost after favorable weather reports coincided with the further reaction in securities and wheat. The close was 2 to 5 points net lower.

MARKET COMMENT

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.—Congressional discussion of the relief measures are likely to become market factors immediately, though most people are satisfied Congress will be out of Washington at a reasonable time and will pass no disturbing legislation of importance. So far there is no sign of encouraging news from business, except in the automobile trade. With tax uncertainty ended, perhaps probable second-quarter earning showings and dividend predictions will command more attention.

Westheimer & Co.—Market undertone at close indicates the probability of early upturn in values even though it may be only temporary. Liquidation well absorbed and the confidence recently imparted to the market is being well maintained.

Waggaman, Brawner & Co.—The recent improvement in the bond market is of particular importance to insurance companies. Their portfolios average over 80 per cent in bonds. Stocks of the leading companies are selling at about 60 per cent of liquidation values at present market prices.

Hornblower & Weeks—With the domestic financial skies clearing, we will want to assume a constructive attitude toward the market and take advantage of the opportunities presented by subsequent trading reactions, to acquire equities in companies which should be among the first to participate in any major turn in the direction of the market.

Current estimates place General Electric Co.'s profits for the second quarter at a somewhat better figure than the $5,152,927, or 16 cents a share earned in the first quarter, but below an amount which would cover the dividend needs for the period. The company pays 25 cents quarterly.

STOCKS LAG, FINISH HALF OF LATE GAINS

Share Markets Sink Slowly as Bonds Advance Drop Called Technical.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Interest in stocks lagged today and the markets sold off, closing on a note that represented consolidation of only quite half last week's advance.

It was a leisurely decline, and Wall street still labeled it technical, holding more significant the strong undertone of bonds and the foreign ability to improve its position on foreign moneys. European bond currencies were especially weak in the late afternoon, French francs and Dutch guilders, particularly, retreating to levels which would hardly encourage further shipments of metal.

Stocks firmed a little at the opening in response to presidential approval of the long-debated moratorium bill, but soon turned downward and drifted lower as the close approached. Rallying spots generally proved to be those issues which had been vulnerable to pressure to the recent recovery, namely, oils, utilities, tobaccos and foods.

Efforts to stir up specialized interest on the strength of the Rockefeller statement were not particularly successful so far as volume was concerned, although National Distillers, Crown Cap and Owens Glass advanced.

Tobacco Shares Down.

American Tobacco "B" and Liggett & Myers "B" were down approximately 3 points. Drug, American Telephone, Macy, General Foods, Delaware & Hudson, Norfolk & Western, First National stores and a few preferreds lost about 2 or more, while in U. S. Steel, National Biscuit, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, American Can, Allied Chemical, New York Central and Southern Pacific losses ranged from 1 to 1½.

Brooklyn - Manhattan Transit slumped 3, but the preferred steadied.

Auburn was rather active, losing 2 points at the worst. Announcement of a regular quarterly dividend came just at the close.

The weekly condition statement of reporting Federal Reserve member banks revealed some interesting changes. Total loans and investments were up $22,000,000. While security loans dropped only $3,000,000, "all others," embracing commercial loans expanded $46,000,000. Also, the banks added $31,000,000 to their holdings of non-Government securities, which meant that their total investment in this direction has gained $188,000,000 since March 9.

Expansion of Credit.

Credit expansion, it was quickly pointed out, was accomplished in the face of large gold exports.

Freight loadings made this modest advance of 5,512 cars in the week ended May 28. Shipments of coal, grain and miscellaneous goods contributed the best showing. Two Western railroad presidents commented on a more favorable outlook for their territories, especially as regards crop prospects. Carl Gray, head of Union Pacific, was hopeful that autumn months would offer a better comparison with 1931 than has been recorded in recent monthly operating statements.

From banking circles came reports that the new investment corporation had been well received throughout the country and the more cheerful attitude in evidence since Congress finished its tax bill seemed to be still prevalent.

Volume of stock was small, totaling 823,050 shares.

Rails Strengthen Bonds.

The continued strength of railway obligations added another fractional gain to the bond market average, although there were conflicting trends apparent in the various classes of senior securities.

Trading was considerably quieter than yesterday, total sales falling off to $8,809,000. The average for 60 corporate loans showed a gain of three-tenths of a point. The utilities finished about even and the industrials were fractionally under yesterday's close.

WHEAT PRICES DROP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Sink Slowly Bumper Spring Crop News Aids Declines; Corn Is Up; Oats Down.

Chicago, June 7 (A.P.).—Faced by [illegible] of bumper crops of spring wheat in Canada and the United States, prices today again outlined new low price records.

The weakness of securities counted against wheat, as a bearish influence on grains. Another weakening factor was evidence that although Canadian wheat exports had reached a huge total, amounting to 10,000,000 bushels [illegible] days, demand abroad [illegible] was reduced nearly to zero.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅝ to 1⅛ cent under yesterday's finish; corn, ¼ to ⅜ cent down; oats, ⅛ to ½ cent down, March provisions varying from 7 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Hastened stop loss selling of wheat developed during the late transactions [illegible] with price declines accelerated by pressure from spreaders who were [illegible] simultaneously purchasing at Winnipeg. Absence of any big general demand here made it difficult to maintain rallies, the lower levels of prices [illegible] failing to bring in the usual volume of investment buying. A reason assigned for this was an improved domestic winter crop outlook in some sections, with wheat reported ripening rapidly in the Southwest.

More rain in the spring wheat country Northwest was meanwhile regarded as basis for promise of a big crop both north and south of the Canadian boundary. Adding to bearish sentiment were authoritative unofficial estimates that on June 1 domestic wheat on farms amounted to 90,100,000 bushels, with 60,000,000 in country mills and elevators. These totals compared with 43,900,000 bushels on farms and 52,800,000 in country mills and elevators a year ago.

Corn developed a stronger tone relative to wheat. Some improvement of shipping call here for corn was noted, together with a falling off in primary receipts. Oats followed wheat rather than corn.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

WHEAT PRICES DROP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Sink Slowly Under Spring Crop News; Aids Declines; Corn Is Up; Oats Down.

CHICAGO, June 7 (A.P.).—Faced by prospects of bumper crops of spring wheat in Canada and the United States, wheat values today again outlived low price records.

Reports of securities counted as another influence on grains. Another weakening factor was evidence that although Canadian wheat exports thus far had reached a huge total, namely, 166,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels, the amount now days, demand abroad for wheat from the United States was reduced nearly to zero.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅝ to 1⅛ cent under yesterday's finish; corn, ¼ to ⅜ cent off; oats, ¾ to ½ cent down, with provisions varying from 7 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Renewed stop loss selling of wheat developed during the last transactions there, with price declines accelerated by pressure from spreaders who were simultaneously purchasing at Winnipeg. Absence of any big general demand here made it difficult to maintain rallies, failing to bring in the usual volume of investment buying. A reason assigned for this was an improved domestic winter crop outlook in some sections, with wheat reported ripening rapidly in the Southwest.

More rain in the spring wheat country Northwest was meanwhile regarded as basis for promise of a big crop both north and south of the Canadian boundary. Adding to bearish sentiment were authoritative unofficial estimates that on June 1 domestic wheat on farms amounted to 90,100,000 bushels, with 60,000,000 in country mills and elevators. These totals compared with 43,900,000 bushels on farms and 52,800,000 in country mills and elevators a year ago.

Corn developed a stronger tone relative to wheat. Some improvement of shipping call here for corn was noted, together with a falling off in primary receipts. Oats followed wheat rather than corn.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

EASTERN COMPANY WINS FIRST PLACE IN DRILL OF CADETS

Two Western High Groups Second and Third; Medals Are Presented.

CAPT. VINCENT AWARDED DIAMOND-STUDDED GIFT

Large Crowd Views Annual Event; Central's Band Is Victorious.

Before an enthusiastic crowd at Griffith Stadium Company A of Eastern High School yesterday afternoon was adjudged the winner of the forty-third annual cadet competitive drill.

While the crowd did not quite fill the park to capacity it more than made up for its numerical deficiency by unabated and arbitrary cheers.

Returning its school colors to the winning lists for the first time in nine years, the Eastern company, under command of Capt. Theodore Vincent, scored a percentage of 98.8 to win from Company K, of Western, which totaled 98.3. Company L, of Western, with 92.6, placed third.

By virtue of his company's drill performance, Capt. Vincent was awarded the diamond-studded Allison Naylor medal by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools.

The placing of second and third by the Western companies kept unmarred an 11-year record of this of having at least "shown" in the competition.

25 Competing Companies.

Twenty-five companies of high school cadets competed in the drill, which started Monday morning. A special board of officers from the War Department, headed by Capt. Alexander R. Bolling, ranked the winners.

For the first time, special medals were presented to captains of the second and third place companies, Col. Frederick K. Lucas, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, making the awards on behalf of his organization.

Capt. William F. Yelverton received the new medal on behalf of Company K, second-place winner, while Capt. John T. Bowen, of Company L, was awarded the third-place medal.

Dr. Ballou also presented the distinguished noncommissioned officers' medal to Sergt. William E. Wilson, of Company E, McKinley High School. A second-place medal was awarded to Sergt. William J. Hickey, of Company B, of Central.

The Central High School Band, led by Capt. Samuel Manciulla, was awarded first prize in the year's band competition.

Wins First Nine Times.

Company A's winning of the drill marked the ninth time that Eastern has placed first in the annual event. Capt. Robert W. Norton, assistant professor of military science and tactics in the Eastern instructor.

Cadet First Lieut. Joseph R. Tucker was in command of Company A's first platoon, while Second Lieut. Chester W. McLaughlin commanded the second platoon.

In addition to Capt. Bolling, the inspection board was made up of First Lieut. John G. Hill, U. S. A., and First Lieut. Thomas H. Allen, U. S. A.

Following announcement of the winners, Dr. Ballou, Stephen E. Kramer, first assistant superintendent of schools in charge of cadets; Col. Wallace M. Craigie, U. S. A., professor of military science and tactics, and the inspecting officers reviewed the entire cadet brigade under command of Col. Chester Morrill, jr.

The presentation was made by J. C. Hiatt, who was secretary of the association at the time President Hoover made the address. Frederick J. Rice, who was president of the association at the time, told of the occasion in a brief speech last night.

Isaac Gans spoke, stressing the need of national representation for the District. Former Representative William E. Andrews reviewed the history of the association. Colonial songs were presented by Mrs. Charles Haig and Miss Elizabeth Eaton, with Miss Doree Holman at the piano. Margaret Hopkins Worrell, president of the association, presided.

ARMY OFFICER, DEAD, NAMED IN TRUE BILL

B. H. Mills, Killed by Gun Accident, Charged With Criminal Assault.

Unaware that he accidentally shot and killed himself last Sunday, the Anne Arundel County, Md., grand jury yesterday returned a presentment charging criminal assault against Warrant Officer Byron H. Mills, attached to the United States Army Air Corps.

Mills, who for some time had been stationed at Bolling Field, was fatally wounded as he cleaned a revolver while visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mahala Mills, near Owensboro, Ky. He died a few hours before his wife, Mrs. Emma V. Mills, succumbed to complications following an operation in Walter Reed Hospital.

Arrested last week at Herald Harbor, Md., on charges of having assaulted Mrs. Nellie E. Gardner, Mills was released from the County Jail at Annapolis under a bond of $2,500. He went immediately to his mother's home.

A coroner's jury declared his death was accidental. His wife knew nothing of the arrest or the accident which took his life.

Mills was a native of Hartford, Ky. He was 49 years old and had been in the Army for 30 years. He rose to the rank of captain in the Air Corps during the World War and received an honorable discharge. He reentered the service as a warrant officer in 1921.

Mills will be buried today at Beda, Ky. Funeral services for his wife will be held tomorrow morning from the home of her father, Adolph Volkmann, 2952 Tilden street northwest. She will be buried in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

'Invulnerable' Is $1,000 Word in Spelling Contest

"Invulnerable," a comparatively simple adjective meaning "incapable of being wounded or receiving injury," has turned out to be the $1,000 word of 1932.

At any rate, it means that much to Dorothy Greenwald, of Des Moines, who won the eighth national spelling bee at the New National Museum yesterday.

Dorothy, representing the Des Moines Register in the contest, defeated Kenneth Cecil, representing the Louisville Courier Journal, on the word "interchangeability," and then to test her for the place of victor, the judges asked her the word "invulnerable." Young Cecil wins $500.

Wilma Pyle, representing the Detroit News, won the third prize of $250.

Others in the contest and the order in which they proved "vulnerable" to the ammunition of Mr. Webster were as follows: Arthur Wibbels, Louisville Times; Eileen Drexler, Peoria Journal Transcript; Janet Brophy, Plainfield Courier News; Irene Vuocolo, Jersey Observer, Hoboken, N. J.; John Dimmer, Portland Evening Express; Edward Martin, Memphis Press-Scimitar; Gladys Pinchbeck, New Bedford Standard; Thomas Hayes, New Britain Daily Herald; Ruth Williams, Burlington Free Press; Frances Bennett, Wheeling Daily News; Betty O'Dea, Buffalo Evening News; Hilda Dunne, Hartford Times; Fred L. Utility Body Tells Cabmen They Must Wear Dusters

It looks like a long, hot summer for the taxicab drivers if the Public Utilities Commission carries out its threat to enforce all provisions of its taxicab order save that relating to the use of meters.

Yesterday the commission sent letters to all operators of taxicabs notifying them that "all sections of this order are in full force and effect" with the exception of the meter requirements, now being tested before the District Court of Appeals.

One of these enforceable regulations states: "Operators of taxicabs shall be clean in dress and in person and wear a coat or duster at all times while operating a cab." At present almost every taxi driver appears only in his shirt sleeves on warm days.

MRS. NORTON SCOFFS AT BLANTON THREAT

"Mere Nonsense," She Says of Plan to Block Her District Action.

Chairman Mary T. Norton of the House District committee yesterday dismissed as "mere nonsense" assertions by Representative Thomas L. Blanton (Democrat), Texas, that he will not allow her to call up local bills when House "District Day" rolls around tomorrow afternoon.

Representative Blanton, whose quarrel with Mrs. Norton at the last District session blocked action on 25 local measures, insists only certain District committee members, designated by himself, will be permitted to call up local measures under the unanimous consent arrangement.

"That's very silly," Mrs. Norton commented yesterday. "Of course I am not going to designate anyone else to call the bills up. I am chairman of the District committee."

District bills will be given preference immediately following action on the second deficiency bill tomorrow afternoon. There may be a night session if a quorum of House members is willing, Representative Norton said.

The House District committee chairman will give preference on the committee calendar to bills already passed by the Senate, speeding them, after passage, to the White House for signature.

A bill authorizing the District Commissioners to close useless streets will be called up next and, after that, two bills to promote the industrial development of the Buzzards Point area. One would permit the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington Railroad Co. to construct a railroad spur into this section, and another would clear the way for erection of the Potomac Electric Power Co.'s new $5,000,000 plant.

KEAN FIGHTS MAPES INCOME TAXING BILL

Senator Holds Dwindling Finances Show Returns Would Disappoint.

Enactment of the Mapes income tax bill, in the face of declining incomes in this and other localities, was opposed yesterday before the Senate District committee by Senator Hamilton F. Kean (Republican), New Jersey.

Citing expert evidence to the effect that incomes throughout the country this year will approximate one-fifth of last year's volume, Senator Kean challenged the wisdom of substituting an income tax for the present assessment on intangibles.

Doubts Large Return.

"It seems to me that under those circumstances you won't get much out of an income tax," he said. "My thought is that conditions throughout the country are not any too favorable for the imposition of such a levy."

Three witnesses urged enactment of the bill as amended by the Bureau of efficiency. They were Thomas F. Murphy, assistant chief of the bureau; W. P. Richards, District assessor, and Charles A. Russell, deputy assessor. Demarest Lloyd, executive secretary of the Taxpayers Union, appeared in opposition.

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, will take the stand in support of the bill when hearings are resumed at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Richards Favors Plan.

Mr. Murphy testified that the amended income tax bill would benefit the District and its residents both from the standpoint of providing a more equitable form of taxation and of increasing local revenues by tapping a new source. He admitted incomes here are on the decline, and contemplated 10 per cent salary cuts will substantially further reduce their volume. He said incomes for the next two or three years are more or less a matter of conjecture.

Tax Assessor Richards favored the income tax as easier to collect than the present tax on intangibles, which it replaces. Mr. Lloyd said a small local sales tax would be preferable and less burdensome to the people of the District.

NATIONAL AIR RACE EASTERN DIVISION DUE TO START HERE

OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION EXPECTED IMMEDIATELY

70 Planes Will Leave Capital in Competition Preceding Cleveland Exhibition.

Requirements to assure the selection of Washington as the starting point of the Eastern division of the National Sweepstakes Air Races have been met, it was announced by John S. Wynne, general manager of the Washington-Hoover Airport, yesterday. The city selected must contribute a percentage of the cash prize money and must supply accommodations for the fliers in addition to rendering other services. Mr. Wynne stated that through the cooperation of the Greater National Capital committee of the Washington Board of Trade, which will sponsor the start of the races, all necessary arrangements have been made.

Expects Confirmation.

The airport manager expected to receive official confirmation today, already having practical assurances for the selection of Washington as the starting place of the Eastern division.

The National Sweepstake Races, preliminary to the national air races in Cleveland, will be held in August and will be open to both men and women fliers and planes of all classes. A Western division will start from a Pacific Coast city and join the Eastern division in Dallas, the two divisions flying to Cleveland for the races.

70 Planes Due Here.

Total prize money for races to Cleveland races amounts to $20,000, various cities along the way offering cash prizes to planes arriving first in their respective vicinities. The difference in classes of planes will be taken care of by the handicap, Mr. Wynne said.

It is expected that approximately 70 planes will leave Washington. According to the sweekstake regulations, the fliers will remain in the city three days before they start for Dallas. The planes will be at the Washington-Hoover Airport and various flying stunts will be staged during the three days prior to the race.

The National Sweepstake Races are known as the Cord Cup Race, since the Cord Trophy is to be awarded.

Four Billion 3-Cent Stamps Being Printed for New Rate

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is busy manufacturing four billion 3-cent postage stamps for distribution to postoffices throughout the country.

The new stamps, made necessary by the increase in postage rates under the revenue act, are being turned out at the rate of 100,000,000 a day. Three varieties are being made. The new stamp will be printed in purple ink, bearing the Stuart portrait of George Washington. The three-cent Lincoln stamp will be continued, as will the 3-cent stamp of the Washington Bicentennial series. These, however, will be withdrawn at the end of the year.

In order to meet the new postage rate, the Postoffice Department is distributing to postmasters one billion 1-cent stamps to be used with the present 2-cent stamps until the new issue is completed. Three hundred million envelopes, bearing the new 3-cent stamps, also are in the process of manufacture.

The new stamps and stamped envelopes will be placed on sale here June 16. Stamp collectors desiring "first day covers" on these issues will be required to make private arrangements.

It was announced the Postoffice Department will not undertake the redemption of surplus 2-cent stamps of the present issue. These stamps, together with a 1-cent stamp, may be used after the new postage rate goes into effect.

The new series will be issued in coils and sheets, containing from 500 to 3,000 stamps. A later date has been set for the issuance of the 3-cent stamp books.
